Rockefeller's Daughter 'Sinking Fast'

Today

They Killed the Indian. Roads and Civilization. Doctor-Farmer Strike. Good Roads, Good Profits.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMEON, Cal., Aug. 18.

CALIFORNIA is building a new "Coast road," running north and south, close to the edge of the Pacific. It parallels the splendid roads that already run from San Diego to the end of the state and on through Oregon and Washington, to Seattle, for a total length of more than fifteen hundred miles.

Convicts are employed on the Coast road, paid enough to help get a start when they leave prison, a better plan than leaving them locked up, to rage and mutiny. The money earned is kept for them, but if a prisoner runs away, as occasionally happens, that costs the other prisoners dear.

FOR EACH RUNAWAY prisoner captured a $200 reward is paid out of the earnings of all the prisoners. The men watch each other, and escapes are few.

Recently two escaped, including one Indian. The Indian got away a second time on his way back to the prison camp. He had said that he would kill the sheriff that first arrested him, and on his second escape started to fulfill his vow. Before he could procure any weapon he was shot dead, the authorities deciding that he was "too bad and dangerous an Indian."

THERE YOU HAVE a text for young editorial writers, in schools of journalism. They might say:

Human life on this earth today is one big convict camp. We work because we are forced to. Our rulers murder each other on a gigantic scale and call it war.

Those road convicts, in their misery, are building a magnificent highway on which better men will travel, in freedom and happiness.

Our imperfect humanity is building, in pain, suffering and selfishness, a real civilization in which better men will live, happily, in freedom.

CUBA DEALS with a doctors' strike.

Ten thousand medical men, organized in a "National Medical Federation of Cuba," rebelling against low pay, have walked out of hospitals and sanataria, also refusing to attend 3,000 patients confined in institutions.

THE IMAGINARY young student of journalism might also write about that.

This shows the difference between body and soul. Some Latin countries, Mexico, Spain and others, have closed churches, reduced the number of officiating priests to the vanishing point, and there has been, thus far, no effective protest, although lack of medical attention only threatens the physical body, doomed to early death, whereas lack of religious attention threatens the safety of the immortal soul.

The explanation of the strange indifference is simple. If you neglect a sick body it hurts, immediately. A sick soul does not hurt, until later. But later, unless Dante and others are mistaken, it hurts, seriously.

ANOTHER STRIKE starts in Iowa. Farmers, dissatisfied with prices are holding back products from the markets, thinking the public will pay more liberally when it is hungry. In the Northwest, wheat growers say they will hold back wheat.

Prophecy is dangerous, BUT—

At this moment important men, with much financial and other power, want President Hoover re-elected. They know that every cent added to the price of wheat means many votes for the Republican ticket. No genius is needed to understand that or to make clear the fact that when the election is past the desire to hold up wheat will be less intense, no matter how the election goes.

The farmer that holds his wheat now, leaving the cash sales to Canada, Russia, etc., may be sorry in November.

IF YOU WANT automobile visitors in your state, provide good roads. California has the finest roads in the world: the world knows it and brings its automobiles here. Last month fifty thousand, nine hundred and three out-of-state automobiles entered California, which means more than 150,000 persons, allowing three passengers to a car. These travellers leave their money here, buy millions of gallons of gasoline and help pay the tax that builds the wonderful roads.

THE BEAUTIFUL city of Pasadena, on the hillside east of Los Angeles, announces that all taxes will be cut eleven per cent. The thing has been done by revising city expenses.

That will interest other cities and annoy only those managed by men that find wealth and political power in tax expenditure.

MORE INTERESTING is the fact that five cities in Kansas, four in another state, levy no taxes at all. Publicly owned light and power plants yield profits that make taxes unnecessary.

In Jacksonville, the entire tax budget amounts to only three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, less than two dollars per inhabitant, as compared with nearly one hundred dollars per capita in one of our richest cities.

2 Confess As 'Tape' Bandits

Pittsburgh's so-called "tape bandit" robberies—exceeding 10 during the past few months—were reported by police cleared up with the capture and confession of two dapper young men who attempted to hold up the Ground Gripper Shoe Store in the Union Trust Building Arcade today. The alleged gunmen are said by city detectives to be the same who trussed up their numerous other victims with white tape.

CAPTURE OF SUSPECTS

Shearer was captured by Traffic Policeman John B. Fogarty, yesterday chosen president of the Fraternal Order of Police, and Patrolman Dennis F. Dwyer, as he is said to have fled without loot and with an unloaded revolver, following the attempted shoe store robbery which was frustrated by William W. Nichols, 57, of 89 Knox avenue, store manager.

Sullivan was arrested later by City Detective Walter Monaghan in front of the North Avenue Y. M. C. A., where he is alleged to have arranged to meet his partner following the holdup.

The two, according to Monaghan, confessed to 10 holdups committed in the downtown district within the past few months, in many of which they used tape to bind their victims.

They will be arraigned tomorrow.

TELLS OF HOLDUP

Describing the store holdup, Manager Nichols said:

"I was alone in the store when two men, who I thought customers entered. As I approached them, one drew a gun and pushed it against my stomach, saying, 'Get back there.' I pushed the gun away and gave the bandit a shove. He staggered about 10 feet and I started back to the rear of the store. The other bandit was there. Just then a customer entered and both men fled."

Fogarty was elected head of the police organization at the final session of its convention in the Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday.

Other officers elected included Francis C. Knight, Fort Wayne, Ind., vice president; Peter J. McCullough, Pittsburgh, secretary, and C. C. Crummer, Pittsburgh, treasurer. Gary, Ind., was selected as the 1933 convention city.

SENATE VOTES P. S. C. PROBE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Republican organization leaders by unanimous vote and without roll call today put through the Senate their bill for investigation of the Public Service Commission, but the inquiry may die aborning from lack of funds.

Likelihood that Gov. Pinchot, inveterate foe of the organization, will kill the $100,000 voted for the inquiry loomed.

Senate approval alone is necessary to launch the investigation, but with adjournment tomorrow the Governor's approval of the appropriation is essential. No time remains to override his veto.

The inquiry, approved at the end of a special session of the Legislature called eight weeks ago to provide unemployment relief, was designed to go back to the origin of the commission and investigate all its operations and all its members.

"WHITEWASH" HINTED

Although it was intended to go far beyond the Governor's persistent demands over 10 years of fighting the Commission, Pinchot last night announced that he had washed his hands of the whole affair.

He declared that the Senate "is

NEW HEIGHT RECORD SET BY PICCARD

Greeted By Crowd as Ball Descends From Stratosphere

EDOLO, Italy, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Prof. Auguste Piccard's second balloon excursion into the stratosphere ended this evening at 5 o'clock when he brought his balloon down here after almost 12 hours in the upper atmosphere.

He had established a new world's altitude record by rising 16,500 meters (more than 10 miles) above the earth in the aluminum air-tight ball.

Edolo lies in the Camonica Valley, 60 miles north of Brescia, about half way between Milan and Verona.

The gondola bumped to a landing in a field on the outskirts of this little town whose entire population of 2,500 turned out to welcome the adventurers.

'PROFITABLE TRIP'

The bushy-haired little scientist and his young assistant, Max Cosyn, stepped out of the aluminum sphere smiling broadly. Piccard said:

"Well, that was a profitable trip."

But before he would say another word he insisted upon seeing to the deflation of the balloon.

Once he decided to land, he came down gradually and the operation required about two hours.

High above the earth, he knew that the northwest wind probably would carry him out over the Adriatic Sea if he remained up much longer.

Drifting slowly downward, he landed within striking distance of Lake Garda, which he had been able to see the moment he crossed the Alps and the Swiss frontier.

STRATOSPHERE RADIOS

He took off from the airdrome at Dubendorf, Switzerland at 5:06 o'clock this morning (12:06 a. m. Pittsburgh time) after weeks of waiting for suitable weather conditions and at noon today his headquarters in Zurich received a radio message saying he had smashed his previous altitude mark.

The radio messages sent by Dr. Piccard today were the first ever received from the stratosphere.

In his message at noon he said:

Writes Suicide Note, Dies Natural Death

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Although an unfinished letter indicated he planned committing suicide, police said they believed the death today of Frank W. Henry, 54, of Seaside Park, N. J., in the writing room of a midtown hotel was due to natural causes. His body was found slumped over the table.

Nude Barred at Show, Irate Artist to Quit

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—John Russell, prominent Canadian artist, said today that unless one of his nudes is displayed at the Canadian National exhibition art gallery he will withdraw 11 other works submitted.

Under the instructions of the Municipal Morality Department, two policemen visited the gallery and took copious notes on four nudes, one the life-size figure of a young girl by Russell.

After a conference with exhibition officials, Curator Fred Haines said the Russell nude would not be hung because he had proffered more canvases than the gallery could use.

JOHN D.'S DAUGHTER SINKING

McCormicks Reunited At Mother's Side As Life Ebbs

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, youngest daughter of John D. Rockefeler, was "sinking fast," relatives said today.

On what was expected to be her death-bed, she had been "kept alive by stimulants since midnight."

Mrs. "Fifi" McCormick met Mrs. Mathilde McCormick Oser upon her arrival today from Switzerland and rushed her to the Drake Hotel, where her mother lay near death. Her life has been despaired of for more than a week.

The arrival of Mrs. Oser from Switzerland completed the family circle for the first time since Mrs. McCormick obtained a divorce from Harold F. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company, in 1921.

Her other daughter, Muriel, became estranged from her mother by that decree and went to live with her father, later leaving him after his marriage to Mme. Ganna Walska.

But Muriel, now Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, was at her mother's side today, as well as McCormick, who has remained friendly to his former wife, especially since his divorce last year from Mme. Walska, the Polish songster. So was Fowler McCormick, who married Fifi Stillman, many years his senior, without his mother's consent, but stood reunited with the family as all despaired of her life.

MOLLISON SEEN 650 MILES OUT

LONDON, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—The Cunard liner Ascania today reported that Capt. J. A. Mollison, flying from Ireland to Newfoundland, passed that vessel at 4 p. m. (11 a. m., eastern standard time), at 52.22 north longitude, 20.32 west latitude.

He seemed to be going well. There was a light northerly wind, and fine, clear weather.

The position reported by the Ascania is about 650 miles west from Galway.

The steamer Beaverbrae, near the Ascania, reported sighting Mollison a few minutes later. He was flying low and fast.

PORTMARNOCK, Near Dublin, Aug. 18.—(INS.)—Capt. James A. Mollison, noted Scottish flier, took off from here for Newfoundland at 11:35 a. m., today (6:35 a. m. Pittsburgh time), on the first lap of a projected round-trip flight to the United States.

Mollison is attempting to fly from here to Newfoundland, where he will refuel, and then on to New York. Resting there only a few hours, he will turn back, attempting to reach London by Saturday night.

'Installment' Tax Bill Passes Senate

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—The Senate today passed finally the bill of Representative Max Spann, Allegheny, authorizing the collector of delinquent taxes to accept payments of delinquent taxes or water rents in installments. Payments of less than 10 per cent of the amount due need not be accepted.

The Senate advanced for final passage at its session tonight the bill of Representative Joseph G. Steedle to permit poor districts in Allegheny County to negotiate temporary loans in 1931 with approval of the County Commissioners.

Counsel Quotes 'T. R.' In Plea for Walker

Court Moves to Balk Roosevelt Decision On Ouster

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—John J. Curtin, counsel for Mayor James J. Walker, in making a lengthy, formal demand today that the 15 removal charges filed against the Mayor by Samuel Seabury be dismissed, cited to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, presiding at the hearing, a decision made in a removal case 30 years ago by the late Theodore Roosevelt.

In that instance, Curtin declared, "There was a human cry raised to hang the mayor," but "T. R." ruled no proof had been offered and dismissed the charges.

Curtin, walking close to Gov. Roosevelt's desk, quoted "T. R." as saying on that occasion:

"The power of removal from office should be treated as an extraordinary matter."

Meanwhile, Supreme Court Justice John T. Loughran, at Kingston, N. Y., today granted an order which was designed to block Gov. Roosevelt from rendering a decision in the removal proceedings.

The order was served on Attorney General John J. Bennett here this afternoon.

Justice Loughran's order was "to show cause why an alternative writ of prohibition should not be issued against Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt to prevent him from ever reaching a decision," under the home rule act in the State Constitution.

Latrobe Burgess, 80, Faces Removal

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—J. E. Peebles, 80-year-old burgess of Latrobe, today was directed by Judge C. D. Copeland to show cause why he should not be removed from office on grounds of physical unfitness and neglect of duty. A petition to oust Peebles was signed by seven members of Latrobe Council. He is charged with failing to keep a correct account of fees collected and of failing to take charge of the police department during the time Latrobe had no police chief.

Terrorists Bomb 3 Cleaning Plants

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—A renewed outbreak of terrorism in the cleaning and dyeing industry was feared today by police who were investigating bombings of three cut-price cleaning establishments.

The shops, two of them belonging to the same firm, were bombed late last night. Owners said they had received warnings to raise their prices.

Mellon's Vacation In U. S. Extended

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Andrew W. Mellon has been granted permission by the State Department to remain away from his ambassadorial post in London for another week or so.

Mellon had originally planned to begin his return trip tomorrow. In asking for the extension, he pointed out that Parliament is not in session and said his immediate presence in England was not necessary.

BAZZANO SLAIN FOR SILENCE

That John Bazzano, Pittsburgh racketeer, was slain by New York gangsters because he refused to divulge to them the names of the slayers of the three Volpe brothers, the gangsters thought he knew, was the theory advanced by homicide detectives today.

Lieut. Frank Ferris said he believes Bazzano, lured to New York 10 days ago, was slowly strangled with a rope and then stabbed with an ice pick as the mob attempted to force from his lips the name of the slayers of the Wilmerding brothers.

FERRIS' THEORY

The New York suspects under arrest, Ferris said, with one possible exception, had nothing to do with the Volpe massacre. One of the men under arrest, the homicide detective chief said, was with Bazzano in his room at the Hotel Pennsylvania as late as the Saturday night before he was killed.

Bazzano had gone to New York to attend a meeting of yeast

SHARP CLASH MARKS VET DEBATE

A sharp debate over proposals for a redistricting of the state to conform with the recent changes in the Congressional "setup" enlivened the first business meeting of the Pennsylvania Department, American Legion, in the Nixon Theater today.

The plan, which would have reduced the number of districts from 36 to 34, was defeated by an overwhelming majority after several speakers had declared that the change would be a "setup for politicians." The Executive Committee was charged with wanting "to run everything for themselves and forgetting the folks back home."

The Allegheny County vote was 83 against the change and six in favor. These latter were in the Thirty-third District.

OVATION FOR KLINE

Mayor Charles H. Kline was given an ovation when he welcomed the delegates to the city and declared:

"There is no restraint on members of the Legion during these three days."

Hundreds of Legionnaires poured into Pittsburgh from all parts of Pennsylvania as the city took on a gala appearance for the three-day meeting.

George P. Proesl, state commander, was presiding. After Mayor Kline's official greeting, former Governor John S. Fisher, introduced by Proesl, said:

"There is no denying we are under trying circumstances today. We face a condition and not a theory. The courage that led you in war cannot permit you to admit being licked today. I hope your presence here will serve to give us courage."

Bureau Aide's Salary Brings Legion Scrap

Charges aimed at William Wolfe Smith, deputy administrator of the Veterans' Bureau in Washington, were aired in the American Legion convention today, as District Commander Jack McDade, of Scranton, criticized Watson B. Miller, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the legion.

Miller helped Smith get the job, McDade alleged, which in 1923 paid $7,300 and since 1929, $9,000.

But Smith all the while, he said, was getting an officers' pension of $186 a month, although he had only 13 days' service in the Army.

Furthermore, McDade charged, Smith took a $1,400 a year woman clerk and made her an attorney at $4,800 a year. He read his charges from the Congressional Record, attributing them to Congressman Blanton.

Miller, in answering them, said he had supported Smith for the job, that Smith had gotten a raise to $9,000 when raises were handed others in the department. He said he did not know that Smith had only 13 days' service.

McDade and others were whispering when Miller cried out:

"I listened to you, why don't you hear what I have to say."

The retorts were drowned in calls from the delegates, and both speakers, quieted, made way for others.

Coroner W. J. McGregor made a surprise move in the alleged Munhall poison plot case by announcing the inquest would be held at 1:15 p. m. today. Twelve witnesses have been subpenaed.

A court order was obtained for release of Mrs. Mary Chalfa and Mrs. Anna Allas, in jail on murder charges, to permit them to attend the inquest.

The two were held for court yesterday by Alderman T. A. Flanigan after a hearing in which testimony was given by Coroner McGregor and County Chemist Buckmaster that poison was found in four bodies of supposed victims exhumed.

Mrs. Gizella Young, whose alleged confession started the investigation, was taken from jail and requestioned by McGregor preparatory to calling her as a witness.

preparing to do as little investigating as possible" and "to whitewash if it can."

Pinchot resented the organization's intention to retain control of the investigation by naming its own counsel and assailed rejection of Attorney General William A. Schnader for the job. Without him, "the investigation must fail" he said. "Either he must be counsel of the committee or not in the picture. The Governor said:

"Without Schnader, the proposed investigation must fail. He cannot act as second fiddle to a private lawyer."

Organization leaders made clear from the first that although they will welcome Schnader's co-operation, they intend to keep direction of the investigation in their hands and appointment of their own counsel is one means they intend to employ.

ALTER MENTIONED

No one has been definitely chosen yet, but the name of former Attorney General George E. Alter, Pittsburgh, loomed today as a possible appointee.

Meeting accusations against himself of standing in the way of Public Service Commission laws, Pinchot replied:

"Even if the charges made against me in the Senate resolution were sound, this needless, churlish and unjustified slur at an administration which has done its utmost in good faith to co-operate with the Senate is notice to the people from the Senate that it is preparing to do as little investigating as possible and that little under control of factional politics.

"If any additional proof were needed to show that the Senate and the Republican state organization have been forced to investigate against their will, and intend to whitewash if they can, this resolution proves it to the hilt."

COMMITTEE OPPOSED

The investigators will include most of the group named to investigate W. D. B. Ainey, former chairman, who resigned under fire three weeks ago. Gov. Pinchot is known to look with no great favor upon its makeup.

The personnel, to be named later today, will include William R. Rial, Westmoreland, as chairman; James J. Coyne, Allegheny; William H. Earnest, Harrisburg; Charles H. Clippinger, Franklin, and Samuel W. Salus, Philadelphia. All of these are organization Republicans.

In addition, there will be one Democrat and one administration Senator, although neither of the latter has been chosen. Warren R. Roberts, Northampton, is being put forward as Democratic choice.

Senate leaders said today that inasmuch as the present commission will come under the scope of the investigation, they will not confirm appointment of George W. Woodruff, Berwyn, and Frederick P. Gruenberg, Philadelphia, named to the board by Pinchot.

The Legislature to act on the appointments will automatically remove Woodruff and Gruenberg from office when the Senate adjourns Friday and will compel Pinchot to reappoint them or successors.

THOMPSON LINKED

Pinchot launched his drive against the board in the Senate about four weeks ago. He twice charged Ainey accepted gratuities from utilities and came into a Senate session prepared to show photostatic copies which he said would uphold his allegations. Ainey resigned as a Senate committee was about to investigate him. One of Pinchot's charges involved payment of a hospital bill by the late A. W. Thompson, then, head of the Philadelphia Company.

The Governor last week charged James E. Benn, for 10 years second to Ainey on the board, had banked $650,000 on a $100,000 salary over a 10-year period. Benn is hurrying back from London to meet the accusation.

ASSEMBLY SET TO APPROVE RELIEF BILLS

Adjournment Slated After Issues Pass At Night Sessions

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—After eight grueling weeks of bitter dispute, the 1932 special session of the Legislature today prepared to pass a $12,000,000 direct relief bill and a 1 per cent general sales tax to finance it, and adjourn before tomorrow.

Final enactment of the program was work for the Senate.

Leaders of that body planned to dispose of both the Talbot direct bill and the Hagmaier sales tax measure on second reading today, pass them finally at a session to be called shortly after midnight, and adjourn.

PINCHOT TO APPROVE

The Talbot bill then will go to the House for concurrence in amendments. That body expected to have approved these clauses before dawn.

Gov. Pinchot has said he would sign both measures.

Amendments inserted yesterday by the Senate call for a board made up of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House, Treasurer and Auditor General to administer the relief fund and for that fund to be distributed in six monthly installments of $2,000,000 each, starting September 1, instead of in eight payments of $1,500,000 each.

DISTRIBUTION BASIS

The basis for distribution to municipal relief agencies would be the number of unemployed in the various counties as reported by the Department of Labor and Industry.

The same method of distribution was provided by the Talbot relief act of the 1931 special session.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(INS.)—An appeal for a public subscription campaign to a $25,000,000 relief fund to care for the unemployed and distressed of the city during the coming winter was issued today by Public Welfare Commissioner Taylor.

He said nearly 700,000 persons at present were recipients of help from the municipality and that the amount asked for winter relief work was essential adequately to keep up the work.

Since Valentino's death and his burial in a borrowed grave in a Hollywood cemetery, a bitter dispute has raged between Ullman and Valentino's brother and sister, Alberto Guglielmi and Maria Guglielmi Strada, who accused Ullman of illegally diverting funds of the film sheik's estate.

Ruth Judd, Convicted In Double Murder, Sews Endlessly

FLORENCE, Ariz., Aug. 18.—(INS.)—Arizona's convicted trunk murderess, the "velvet tigress," caged behind iron bars in the state penitentiary here, has been tamed by a kindly prison warden.

The fire that blazed in the pretty blue eyes of Winnie Ruth Judd, whose trunk murders and tempestuous court outbursts last winter furnished sensational stories, has been changed into a soft glint of compassion for those that go astray.

Warden William Delbridge has found that her temperamental explosions are the result of nervous hysteria. He talks with her as he would with a little child. She subsides quietly and asks him to forgive her for her displays of anger. Delbridge said:

"She is like others that have been in death row. Many are afraid of death just as you and I are. It is a great unknown. And then, the Arizona law demands hanging, and for most persons the noose is terrible. I have talked with Mrs. Judd time and again when she has given away to her nerves and she has always come out of her despondency like a perfect lady."

Mrs. Judd last winter killed her two "dearest women friends," hacked up their bodies, and shipped them in trunks to Los Angeles. She was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. Her attorneys have appealed.

Meanwhile Mrs. Judd sews hour after hour. At one time she read the newspapers eagerly. Now she seldom glances at one. She eats regular prison fare with apparent enjoyment. Her father and mother, the elderly Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, visit her several times each week.

PLANES CARRY GUARD HEADS TO MINES

Illinois Governor Asks Survey; Situation Grows Acute

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Illinois National Guard officers headed by Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond flew here from Rockford in six planes today to make a survey of mine strike conditions in Christian County.

They left at once for Taylorville under a state highway police escort to confer with Sheriff Charles Wieneke.

The survey was ordered early this morning by Gov. Louis L. Emerson after the Sheriff had reported to him that the situation growing out of the union miners strife had become acute.

At Taylorville, Christian County officials have removed barricades and deputy sheriffs which had blocked all roads leading into the county. Their action cleared the way for entrance of dissatisfied union miners who had threatened to march upon the busy mines from Springfield.

TRAIN BROKEN UP

Trouble developed shortly after dawn at Toronto, five miles south of Springfield. About 150 dissenting miners climbed aboard a train of empty coal cars, uncoupled them and broke up the train at Glenarm, a few miles further south. The cars were en route to Christian County to take out coal mined under the new agreement.

Three of the four mines of the Peabody Coal Company, largest producers in Christian County, were functioning today. The fourth, at Tovey, was closed when 1,110 miners voted to strike.

HITLER WARNED AGAINST COUP

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—A warning that the German army would be used promptly to block any attempt by Adolph Hitler to use his National Socialist storm-troops to seize the government was before Hitler today from Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The chancellor added he expected his government to remain in power "a long time."

The warning was given in an interview last night in which Von Papen reiterated German's demand for equality in armaments with other nations, declaring the Fatherland no longer could submit to being treated as a second-class power.

With reference to Hitler and the storm-troops, however, he said he had received assurances from the Nazi leader the troopers would not be used for any attempt at a coup d'etat.

Town's Funds Short; May Abandon Lights

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Aug. 18.—The proposition of continuing street lights in Belmont and Powhatan will be put up to the voters in November. If residents approve an extra two-mill levy for that purpose, sufficient funds will be made available for a continuance of the lights. Shortage of tax money has made this necessary.

Col. Henry W. Coulter, 56, wealthy Greensburg coal operator, sportsman and soldier, died early today in the University Hospital in Philadelphia.

He flew to the Philadelphia hospital Monday for treatment for injuries resulting from an automobile accident in Bedford last May. Internal complications caused death.

In the Spanish American War he enlisted with the 10th Pennsylvania Volunteers. Upon his reenlistment in 1901 he was made a second lieutenant, and in the fall was made a first lieutenant.

In 1903 he was made a captain and adjutant of the 10th Regiment. Five years later he was commissioned a major in which capacity he served during the Mexican Border War.

At the outbreak of the World War, a lieutenant colonel, he commanded and trained the 110th Infantry at Augusta, Ga.

At Conde-en-Brie, France, he was under fire for the first time during the World War, and later he was wounded in action on the Vesle River.

AVIATRIX ILL, STAYS ALOFT

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—A sharp pain in the abdomen which threatened for a time last night to force Mrs. Frances Marsalis out of the attempt to set a new endurance flying record for women had disappeared today, and Mrs. Marsalis and her companion, Mrs. Louise Thaden, were still aloft over Curtiss Field.

They had been flying continuously for 91 hours at 9 a. m. and had only 32 hours and 20 minutes to go to set a new record.

The women are flying within a radius of 10 miles from the field, which takes them over the ocean. They fly over the field every hour.

Millionaire Leaves Estate to Charity

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Walter F. Hering, millionaire philanthropist, who two years ago sought public advice as to how to dispose of his wealth, makes the public a leading beneficiary in his will, his attorneys reveal.

He leaves his 12-acre suburban estate, with its 21-room residence, valued at $500,000, as a convalescent home of non-sectarian and charitable character, and provides that the income from three-fourths of his estate, estimated in March, 1930, at more than $2,000,000, be used to endow the home.

DEPORTATION OF LANCASTER AIM OF U. S.

Freed in Murder Case, Briton Silent on Mrs. Keith-Miller

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Capt. W. N. Lancaster, British aviator acquitted yesterday of murder in the death of his rival in love, Haden Clarke, a young American writer, rested at the home of his attorney today before starting to hunt a job.

He was without definite plans for the future, he said, and declined to discuss what attitude he would adopt toward Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian flying companion whose affections Clarke won from him. He said:

"Please do not ask me about that. I don't know now what answer I would give you."

Lancaster, arrested May 2 on a first-degree murder charge, was acquitted yesterday on one complete ballot that followed 4 hours and 58 minutes of debate by a jury made up solely of men. His trial lasted more than two weeks.

SUICIDE DEFENSE

Young Clarke was found fatally wounded April 21 in the room the two men occupied in Mrs. Keith-Miller's home here only a few hours after Lancaster had returned from a business trip to learn of the couple's new-found love. Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller maintained Clarke shot himself through despondency over finances and his physical condition.

As Lancaster sought to reconstruct a program of work and future routine today, he faced service of a federal warrant charging him with illegally entering the United States. Mrs. Keith-Miller was to appear to answer a similar charge. Her lawyer, however, said he would ask for a postponement.

"I am delighted at my acquittal," Lancaster said.

Mrs. Keith-Miller said:

"I knew old Bill would come through."

Clarke's 'Ghost' Cleared Lancaster, Says Parents

LONDON, Aug. 18—(INS.)—Declaring that the spirit of the late Haden Clarke had repeatedly told them their son was innocent, the parents of Capt. William N. Lancaster were overjoyed today to learn of his acquittal. The captain's father said:

"We have talked to Clarke through a medium. From his own lips we have heard the whole story and believe it. Weeks ago, when our son was first charged, we knew he was innocent. Clarke told us so himself."

Lancaster was asked whether the "spirit" revealed how Clarke met his death. He answered:

"He says he is not sure himself. He told me he was dazed and confused at the time."

SHOWS CHICAGO IMPROVING

The Volpe murders "were simply boils" on an otherwise unblemished municipal skin, in the words of Chicago's acting mayor, M. S. Szymczak, as he arrived in Pittsburgh today to address the Polish Day celebrators at Kennywood Park.

Obviously anxious to avoid a comparison of crime between Pittsburgh and his native city, Szymczak, who in private life is professor of political science at the University of Chicago, handed interviewers a carefully prepared statement on the financial situation of the country's second city.

Its three typewritten pages pointed out that:

"The city administration saved over $8,000,000 of the 1931 corporate appropriations, and in the 1932 budget appropriations were reduced by 24 per cent, and a further saving can be expected."

Bazzano Believed Slain For Shielding Killers

racketeers, Ferris said. As the session got under way, one of the mob asked Bazzano the identify of the Volpe slayers, it is thought. They believed he knew and when he refused to tell, Ferris said, he was "put on the spot."

Tony Cirone, 29, of 1202 West North avenue, was held over and remanded to jail without bail for further hearing and investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenburg in Central Police Court this morning.

Cirone was arrested last night by City Detective Walter Monaghan, on a suspicious person charge.

His arrest resulted when Monaghan intercepted a letter sent Cirone by an anonymous writer in Kansas City, Mo. The letter was addressed to 613 Southern avenue, Mt. Washington, and later delivered to Cirone at a cigar shop.

The letter urged Cirone:

"Protect yourself."

N. Y. Rum Czar Hides From Bazzano Killers

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—A leading Manhattan racketeer was reported to have gone into carefully guarded seclusion today as police prepared their case against what they believed to be a far-flung murder syndicate.

After arresting 14 men, including four Pittsburghers, and charging them with homicide in the ice-pick slaying of John Bazzano, of Pittsburgh, detectives announced that the unnamed racketeer, one of New York's leading rum barons, was to have been next "on the spot."

LURED TO BROOKLYN

Bazzano, the police believe, was lured to Brooklyn on the pretext of a business deal, wined and dined, then garroted and stabbed. Twenty-two stab wounds in his body were explained on the ground that it is a gangster rule to compel all persons present at a killing to inflict at least one wound on the victim, to the end that all would be guilty and none would squeal.

In fact, detectives said, there was to have been a party last night in a swank Manhattan hotel in celebration of Bazzano's murder.

PARTY SPOILED

The arrest of the 14, said police, spoiled plans for the party.

Details of the police story of how Bazzano was lured to death came out today, along with a stout declaration of innocence issued by the 14 prisoners through their attorney, Samuel Leibowitz.

The four Pittsburghers are Carl Sparlino, Pennsylvania avenue, arrested as a suspect in two Pittsburgh murders but later released; Michael Bua, of 208 South Atlantic avenue, who was under arrest there in 1918 in connection with a murder, but released for lack of evidence; Michael Russo, of 1202 Fifth avenue, and Frank Adrano, 90 Washington street.

Bua for 18 years has been associated with Peterson & Chiavetta, a leather firm in Sixth avenue. Sparlino was convicted of violating the liquor laws here in 1929.

The police said the killers of Bazzano were to have been rewarded at last night's fete by payment of $5,000 each and offered "increased rates" for killing the New York racketeer.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Over Gov. Conley's veto the State Legislature today passed bills to abolish the state prohibition department and the state bridge commission as economy measures.

LAWYER TERMS 14 INNOCENT

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(INS.)—The 14 men held here as suspects in the slaying of John Bazzano, Pittsburgh racket chief, 10 days ago, are innocent, declared Samuel Leibowitz, their counsel, today as he prepared to battle for their freedom. He added:

"The police say that they are members of a murder ring. That is nonsense. The police wanted to arrest someone for the crime so they just had one of the usual roundups, grabbing everyone they could find who had a police record."

Leibowitz, defender of Vincent Coll, accused as the Harlem "baby killer," and Al Capone, and regarded as the "mouthpiece" of Broadway," a title held by the late Bill Fallon, has a record of 77 successes in 78 murder cases.

Phone Number Clue To Amnesia Victim

MASON SECOND ON JOBLESS TICKET

'Bread, Work' Slogan Of Priest Planning To 'Stump' Nation

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18.—Father James R. Cox in the role of a presidential candidate was flying home today, prepared to start his political campaign within 10 days. He plans to tour the country in his broadcasting car, making flying trips back to Pittsburgh to attend to his duties at Old St. Patrick's Church. He expects to land at the County Airport, Pittsburgh, at 7 tonight.

And out West, in Elk City, Okla., Dr. Victor C. Tisdale, thirty-second degree Mason, war veteran and prominent physician, was laying plans for his campaign as vice presidential candidate.

JOBLESS TICKET

The two men were selected to head the ticket of the Jobless party at one of the country's most unusual political conventions held yesterday at Creve Coeur Park speedway, 20 miles from here. The selection of a Catholic priest and a Mason as his running mate followed the split between the leaders of the Jobless and Liberty parties who had hoped to bring about a fusion of the two groups.

Determined to stage a vigorous campaign in "all seriousness," Father Cox will leave Pittsburgh, Monday, August 29, for Chicago, making speeches from his automobile along the way. N. G. Bayster, one of the priest's aides who arranged the convention in Creve Coeur Park, will be the advance man for Father Cox.

The traveling "convention hall" which Father Cox is to use on his trip, is his first campaign donation. It was presented to him last week by Mrs. O. C. Peters, of South Atlantic avenue, Pittsburgh.

CAMPAIGN PLANS

Regarding his campaign Father Cox said:

"I will do all the speaking in the streets. That' where I will meet the people I want as my supporters. I don't want those who hold meetings in big hotels or auditoriums. I am going into this fight with all seriousness and I am out to win.

"I am not going to back water on the religious issue. I plan to go right into the places where the religious prejudice is most bitter.

"I am going to campaign on bread and jobs. I will preach tolerance and equality for all. I shall try and tie together on a common ground, the working people and the farmers."

START FOR HOME

The convention went along smoothly yesterday and as he had promised the authorities, Father Cox started his caravan back to Pittsburgh before nightfall. After leading the motorcade through St. Louis, he returned to the city, where he spent the night.

Father Cox was nominated for president by Attorney Staley, who was the first speaker at the afternoon session. George Mason, of Elk City, Okla., seconded the nomination. No other candidate was suggested.

BIG DEMONSTRATION

A 20-minute demonstration followed Staley's speech.

In his acceptance speech Father Cox said:

"The action of the Liberty party in refusing to go along with the Jobless party because a Catholic priest would be the presidential candidate of the unemployed has definitely brought the religious issue into American politics."

While the Jobless convention was being held, the national officers of the Liberty party, here for the proposed merger, met in a boathouse on Creve Coeur Lake.

CANNON BOLTS HOOVER FOR DRY STAND

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., who helped carry southern states for President Hoover in 1928, yesterday assailed the prohibition stand set forth in the President's acceptance speech as "surrender to the speakeasies, bootleggers and nullifiers of the constitution."

The bishop criticized the President for not demanding more men and money from Congress for the enforcement of prohibition, and asserted that, as a result of the acceptance speech, Mr. Hoover may lose the electoral votes of several states.

Persons who consider federal prohibition the outstanding issue of the campaign can support neither Mr. Hoover nor Franklin D. Roosevelt, he said.

LAKESIDE, O., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—The greatest calamity that could befall America, both morally and economically, the Rev. William A. (Billy) Sunday said last night, would be repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. He continued:

"If Borah had run on a dry ticket I would have supported him, but now Hoover will get my vote. Gov. Roosevelt is a fine man, but no candidate is going to ride into the White House on a beer wagon."

SHOUSE NAMED ANTI-DRY HEAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(INS.)—With Jouett Shouse, of Kansas, as its new president, the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, today launched a campaign for quick submission and ratification of a new prohibition amendment.

The association sought bipartisan support, indicating it might be willing to change its stand for flat repeal.

Pierre S. du Pont, chairman of the executive committee, declared:

"As is well known, the position of the association is for unqualified repeal. However, it is not the desire of our group to take a dogmatic stand which would eliminate valuable support. On the contrary, every effort will be exerted to draw together all those who feel that the Eighteenth Amendment does not belong in the Constitution."

Shouse succeeds Maj. Henry H. Curran, who will serve as vice chairman of the association's executive committee.

DRY CONGRESS W.C.T.U. AIM

SEATTLE, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Committed to a fight for a dry Congress and dry State Legislatures in the fall elections, but leaving open the question of whom to support for President, the Women's Christian Temperance Union began the final sessions of its fifty-eighth annual national convention today.

An executive board meeting will be held tomorrow at which leaders expect Milwaukee will be selected for the next convention city.

The union will be piloted during the next 12 months by the same officers that guided it during the past year.

Possibility of a third party with a prohibition presidential candidate was broached yesterday by Arthur M. Barnhart, of Chicago, president of the Illinois conference of organizations supporting the Eighteenth Amendment.

"The cause of this strike is the utter disregard of the Republican platform of 1928 by President Hoover and his party, and also the utter disregard of the President's acceptance speech at that time."

HOOVER WORKS ON TRADE DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—President Hoover went back to work today considering, among other things, the progress of his plans for the meeting next week which he hopes will put the active aid of many prominent men behind a drive for better business.

He was refreshed, tanned and relaxed by his three-day fishing trip on Chesapeake Bay, which ended yesterday. White House officials thought that after a few hours of work today the executive would go on to his Rapidan, Va., camp.

The President found that during his absence aides had gone ahead gathering data to be presented to the business leaders when they gather here August 26.

Some of the men invited to the conference gathered around the White House dinner table last night with the President. Doubtless they had fish tales to tell—maybe about the one that got away.

CURTIS HEARING RENOMINATION

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Vice President Curtis reached today the starting point of his 1932 campaign for re-election—formal notification the Republican party, for the second time, had chosen him as President Hoover's co-standard bearer.

In a simple ceremony shorn of customary frills at his expressed wish, he was to receive formal notice of his renomination, after which he was prepared to propound his views on prohibition, the economic situation, the farm problem and other issues of the campaign.

The scene of the ceremony was only a few blocks from Curtis' old red brick home on Topeka boulevard. He moved there years after his birth 72 years ago in a log cabin across the Kaw River, after he had forsaken life among his Indian kinsmen, taken a turn at being a jockey and hack driver, and eventually entered upon a political career which began with his election as Shawnee County prosecutor in 1884.

Reynolds' Brother Arrives Tomorrow

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—R. J. Reynolds, Jr., brother of Smith Reynolds, tobacco millions heir who was fatally shot in his Winston-Salem (N. C.) home recently, will arrive here aboard a Pan-American Airways plane tomorrow afternoon.

He is expected to continue his journey northward immediately, arriving in the North Carolina city late Saturday.

M., and in Sioux City, Ia., on September 29; Milwaukee, September 30; Chicago, October 1; Detroit, October 2, and back in New York state on October 3 to address the Democratic state convention.

'ELECTION WON' SAYS GARNER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(INS.)—The Democratic vice presidential candidate, John Nance Garner, was flying to Texas today after an eastern visit which convinced him that the Democratic party will sweep the nation in November.

So confident is Garner of the result that he said he would not make a single campaign speech if not pressed to do so by Gov. Roosevelt and Democratic leaders. He said:

"If I had my way I'd go out to Texas and stay there until after the election."

Nevertheless, he is expected to return for an eastern speaking tour about the middle of September at the request of Democratic leaders. Asked when he would make his first speech, Garner said:

"We already have the election won—why talk about the campaign?"

Family Sees Home Burn Second Time

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Benjamin Markowski, a miner, his wife and eight children were made homeless by fire for the second time. They saw their newly-built house, on the site of one destroyed by fire, burn to the ground with firemen helpless for lack of water.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—J. Herbert Dittmeyer, assistant cashier of the Citizens Bank of St. Bernard, a suburb, was arrested last night and lodged in jail, charged with embezzling $54,762. Police said he signed a confession.

Infant Unharmed, Father Hurt in Leap to Escape

Linzie Farina, 24, of 1848 Cliff street, alleged to have killed his wife, Regina, 19, mother of a two-week-old girl, near her home, 1855 Crescent street, late yesterday, was under police guard in Mercy Hospital today with injuries suffered in a 30-foot leap in an attempt to escape.

Mrs. Farina was walking in Crescent street, carrying the baby, when her estranged husband approached and pleaded for a reconciliation, according to Homicide Detectives Myles Smith and Dennis Timpona. Spurned, he pulled out a butcher knife and thrust it into her heart, the detectives said.

Then Farina raced down the steep hillside in the rear of his wife's home and plunged from the 30-foot retaining wall into Bigelow boulevard under the Seventeenth Street Incline, according to detectives. The fleeing husband fell into the path of heavy automobile traffic, but was not struck.

Farina suffered a probable fracture of the skull, a broken ankle and wrist in the leap. He was taken to the hospital by a taxicab driver.

The child, which was to have been christened Sunday, rolled out of its mother's arms when she fell to the ground after she had been attacked by the enraged husband. Apparently uninjured, the infant was taken to Mercy Hospital for observation.

A small boy who witnessed the tragedy told police the couple struggled and fell to the ground. On his knees, Farina, police said, drew the knife from his shirt and plunged it into his wife's chest.

Mrs. Farina made her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Grentz.

ESCAPING THIEF HIT WITH BAT

James Eckenrode, of 427 Parker drive, Mt. Lebanon, was never a ball player, but he can swing a wicked baseball bat.

Going to his garage at his home last night, to see whether his son, Jackie, 4, had shut off the water to sprinkling faucet, Eckenrode discovered a pair of feet protruding from under his automobile. The man was removing the battery, Eckenrode said. He commanded the thief to "stay where you are, or I'll shoot."

Calling to his family to summon police, Eckenrode said he started after the man as he dashed out of the garage and ran. Picking up a baseball bat near the garage, Eckenrode said he threw it when the man was about 15 feet away, striking the fugitive on the back of the neck. He escaped through the woods. The man was about 19, and wore no hat or coat, Eckenrode reported to the police.

SEEK MOTORIST IN FATAL CRASH

County detectives today were searching for the driver of an automobile which forced another car off Brownsville road, near Wilson School, Snowden Township, killing one of its occupants and injuring two others last night.

Ray Connors, 39, of 2901 Sarah street, suffered a broken neck when the machine overturned. He died a few minutes later. Felix Zbikowski, of Mine No. 4, Horning, driver of the car in which Connors was riding, and Carlo Lombardo, Finleyville, another passenger, were slightly injured.

Zbikowski, later arrested at his home after wandering around in a dazed condition, was to be turned over to the coroner by county detectives. He told detectives he was blinded by the lights of the other machine and forced off the road.

The other car, from the opposite direction, forced Zbikowski's machine off the road, pinning the three men beneath when it overturned. It failed to stop.

BOY SHOOTS PAL ACCIDENTALLY

Michael Popovich, 11, o. 1528 Grant street, North Braddock, was in Braddock General Hospital today recovering from a revolver wound inflicted by a playmate while playing "Wild West" in a field in North Braddock late yesterday.

30c-Bill Dodgers Elude Mounted Police Squad

When two men darted out of the Enright restaurant, 5643 Penn avenue today, without paying a 30-cent check, Manager John Langer ran to the street and called to two mounted patrolmen:

"Get those men."

Other police, believing they were on the trail of holdup men, joined the chase, past the East End Police Station to Harvard street, where the fugitives escaped by leaping a fence.

NEEDLE TAKEN FROM CHEST

How she happened to get a needle, two inches long, in her chest, is a puzzle to the doctors.

Six months ago the child started to lose weight and to cry continually. She was given medical treatment without avail.

X-rays of her chest were made and doctors found the needle imbedded near her heart.

An immediate operation was ordered. It was performed Monday. The surgeons knew today they had won in their battle with death.

The superintendent of the hospital said today:

5 BANDITS ROB TAXI DRIVER

George Swackhamer, of 919 Nance way, North Side, a taxicab driver, was robbed of $10 by five bandits at Twenty-third street and Spring way, last night.

Four of the bandits, riding in an automobile bearing Ohio license plates, followed his cab from Federal and Ohio streets, where the fifth man, posing as a "fare," engaged it. When the cab reached its destination, the thugs swerved their automobile in front of the cab, leaped out, pointed revolvers and robbed Swackhamer. The "fare" joined the bandits in their flight.

Infant Mortality Shows Decline Here

The Maternity and Infancy Welfare Bureau is expected to show the infant mortality rate on the decline, Dr. C. B. Maits, director of Public Health, said today.

Dr. Maits says records are being compiled by the bureau, established two years ago, and city nurses visit mothers, offering advice for care of children. Dr. Maits says much good is resulting from this service.

FARE REDUCED FOR LUCKY BUCK DAY

Here's some real good news for boys and girls. Arrangements have been made by the Sun-Telegraph through the Pittsburgh Railways Company by which every youngster who wants to go to Kennywood Park on Lucky Buck Day will get a round-trip ticket on the street cars for 15 cents. The usual round-trip for children is 33 cents.

Within a day or two the Sun-Telegraph will publish a list of special stations where these 15-cent round-trip tickets can be procured in advance.

BANNER EVENT

From all advance reports it is evident that Lucky Buck Day is going to be one of the banner events of the year at Kennywood. Hundreds of children throughout Pittsburgh are clipping the Lucky Bucks from the Sun-Telegraph every day and they'll all have a bank roll to spend when Lucky Buck Day comes along—Friday, August 26.

These Lucky Bucks can be used just the same as money for a dozen of the best rides and amusement devices at Kennywood. If it is a 10-cent ride you pay 10 Lucky Bucks for the ticket.

NOT TOO LATE

It is not too late to start clipping Lucky Bucks from the Sun-Telegraph. They appear every day and Sunday there is to be another bargain lot in the Comic Weekly of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph—15 in all. So, you see, by starting clipping at once, you will have a bank roll to spend a week from tomorrow because the Lucky Bucks will be printed every day until Lucky Buck Day.

Here's another bit of good news about Lucky Buck Day. Kennywood will open at 11 o'clock in the morning on that day and Lucky Bucks will be good for boys and girls up to 16 years of age right through until the close of the park at night.

City Schools Begin Fall Term Sept. 1

Pittsburgh public schools will open for fall term Thursday, September 1, it was announced today. The returning students will enjoy their firs. holiday of the year—Labor Day. The parochial schools of the Pittsburgh district will convene September 6.

GIMBEL DAY — tomorrow — prices for one day only! When we saw the values our buyers brought back, we could hardly believe our senses. Surely, the prices were ridiculously low. But had quality been sacrificed to make them low, we asked! No! guaranteed the manufacturers. No! said our buyers. Still we couldn't believe it. How could we expect you to!

We solved the problem by going direct to the Public Protective Bureau of Pennsylvania, a long established and well-known organization affiliated with the Public Protective Bureau of the United States. We asked them to investigate and certify GIMBEL DAY values. The letter is reproduced above.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- BY SALLY MARTIN

Love Can Last in Spite Of Life's Hardships

Can love last—in spite of marriage, and bills, and children, and family spats, and everything?

Several people have barged into this department lately to say that it can't.

Here's one with a different story to tell—not a story of plain sailing and ease and smoothness, but a story of two people who met the trials of living, of inlaws, of their own pesty tempers—and won out, together!

Do you thrill to courage? To generosity? Then get in on this. It will warm your heart and give you new faith in human nature.

EARLY HARDSHIPS

"Dear Sally Martin:

"May I answer your question, so far as my experience goes, about whether marriages are happy after a few years, or not? I'd like to. I think it may put new heart in some people who are afraid to try it.

"In a few months we shall enter our thirteenth year. For the first five we were childless. It was so difficult for the two of us to get by that we dared not bring another soul to share our hardships.

"When I say difficult, I mean just this:

"We lived in a cheap, dark, back apartment. Our food, though clean, was of the very cheapest variety. We could not afford to entertain, so we had little or no company. When one of us needed a new suit or a dress, I stood behind some counter for weeks so I could earn enough to buy those much-needed clothes.

"We, too, had over-demanding in-laws—three aunts and a mother-in-law, who felt it their duty to tell me how poorly dressed I was, and other things.

MANY SACRIFICES

"Many a night I cried myself to sleep on my husband's shoulder because of some such family unpleasantness; but always, regardless of family differences or financial struggles, the feeling of love and respect that we two had for one another dominated. I mean the knowledge of the many sacrifices each made for the other.

"We always made an effort to get along with each other, no matter what came up.

"Don't think we haven't a struggle yet. Conditions haven't been any too kind to us. But the more difficult the struggle, financially, the more careful we are in our attitude toward one another.

"My husband is not an educated, brilliant man. Beyond a detective story or sports, he has no interests. I, on the other hand, dote on political and international subjects, and am usually engaged in taking some educational work.

"When I have felt the limitation of his lack in this respect and that I must express my superiority, I fortunately have recalled in time that what's in my head in no way makes up for my snappy, spitfire disposition and nagging, to all of which my husband is too much of a gentleman to call my attention. Fortified by what he has put up with in me, I have shut my mouth and soon my irritation has passed.

GIVES ADVICE

"Don't think we haven't had quarrels. We still do, for that matter, but never before our child. And do try to be fair with each other and realize our own shortcomings.

"This is my deduction about most curdled marriages. The first new months are spent in physical demonstrations with no realization of spiritual factors. There is lack of tolerance, selfishness, egotism, often a desire to live beyond the husband's capacity to earn, rudeness and lack of consideration.

"Be as polite to your husband or wife as you would to company. Give as well as get—and love will last. After 13 years, my one regret is that our years togethere are getting fewer.

"A REALLY HAPPY WIFE."

That's a grand letter, my dear.

If every husband and wife followed your advice, the divorce courts would go out of business.

NO - SHE'LL BE HAPPIER WHERE SHE IS!
FAY. KING

By FAY KING

The other day I noticed a girl across from me in the car. Nowhere have I seen more perfect features or a lovelier complexion.

Her shabby little dress and hat could not hide her perfections.

At first it seemed to me a pity that such a lovely creature should be lost to world-wide appreciation. My impulse was to speak to her, get her name and perhaps afford her an opportunity in the spotlight her beauty deserved.

But upon second thought I considered the lot of other lovely girls who have not found happiness in the spotlight of the world.

I would not wish the responsibility of her regrets.

Saying "I Won't Wear Glasses" Brings Needless Misery To Many

How foolish we are about glasses. I have heard hundreds of persons say "I just won't wear glasses." Foolish pride in this matter is a factor leading to unnecessary physical misery.

Dr. Copeland

We have come to associate glasses with age, but nothing can be more absurd than this idea. As a matter of fact, there are a dozen persons under 25 to one person past 50 requiring the constant use of glasses for distant vision.

It may be a mark of age if one must have glasses to find a number in the telephone book, but it certainly is not a mark of age for one to need glasses to see distinctly at a distance.

Think of the outlandish hats and shoes the human family wears because it is the "style;" then wonder why anybody should object to wearing a properly adjusted nose glass or pair of spectacles.

When I gaze upon the photographs of famous men and look at persons I meet every day I often wonder where they ever got such ridiculous - looking glasses as they wear. It isn't necessary to have glasses of this type. Modern opticians and manufacturers of optical goods are all the time devising frames and lenses that actually add to the look of distinction or the real beauty of those who wear them. I have seen many a face that would be materially enhanced in its appearance and attractiveness if suitable glasses were provided.

It is absurd indeed for one to reject the benefits of modern science just because of a silly dread of wearing glasses. I am out of patience with this feeling.

I have gone out of my way to say these things because I know that the foolishness of pride has deprived many a person, particularly members of the fair sex, from the benefits of much needed correcting lenses. Many a human being is suffering discomfort, if not agony, because of uncorrected eye-strain.

Sit down with yourself and take an inventory of your possessions. Headache, eye pain, redness of the lids, lack of concentration, restlessness, unwillingness to work—these are some of the penalties of eye strain. Is it worth while to permit your pride to keep you from wearing glasses when they can do away with your physical ills?

Household Hints

Burnished pewter made in replicas of candle lamps add charm to an early American interior.

Cream-colored wall paper, with large jade green leaves scattered sparsely upon it, is effective for living or bedrooms.

Now that washable wall papers have proved practicable there's no limit to the charming color possibilities of even the most practical bathroom. Try combining flowered paper with colored tile and fixtures.

Small children will have less trouble in locating their caps and gloves and rubbers if their closets are supplied with ordinary clip clothespins to which string has been tied and then hung over the clothes hooks. The children will clip their clothes to this pin and this will do away with so many lost clothes, says Mrs. R. D. B.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Wedding Plans

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—Would it be correct for written invitations to be sent for a wedding supper, not inviting the guests to the ceremony at the church? It is a second wedding, as I am a divorcee, and I do not care to decorate the church or have anyone there except the parents and relatives.

2—Would a supper, a small supper at a downtown hotel, be appropriate for this kind of wedding?

3—What would be necessary in the line of decorations? Anything except place cards and flowers? It is to be held in either a private dining room or suite.

4—I presume the invitations would have to come from the parents of the bride, although they will be unable to attend a wedding supper because of illness? S.

1—Yes, this would be correct . . . the correct thing.

2—Yes.

3—That is all you need for decorations . . . the floral centerpiece for your table, and place cards, if you wish.

4—Since your parents will not be able to be present, it seems rather forced for your mother to write the invitations. Under this circumstance, it would seem more appropriate for you to write the invitations in your name. If you are to send announcements afterward, they would of course be sent in the names of your mother and father.

Seating Arrangement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly help me in the seating arrangements for a formal dinner? I am giving this dinner in honor of the engagement of my daughter.

I am a widow. There will be 30 guests, consisting of my late husband's mother, sister and brother and their wives and husbands. Also my sisters and brothers and their wives and husbands. Also the groom-to-be, his father and mother and a married sister and brother. And my 16-year-old son.

The dinner will be served in a hotel on a Sunday. A.

First I think that it would be splendid if you asked your husband's brother to sit opposite you at the table, as the representative of your husband's family. Then on his right would sit your daughter, as the guest of honor. On his left might sit the mother of the groom-to-be.

On your right would be your daughter's fiance, who is the man guest of honor. On your left might sit the father of the groom-to-be. This seating arrangement would take care of the "honor" places.

The other guests you would then seat as you see appropriate, keeping an eye on their congeniality . . . as we always have to "even in the best regulated families" . . . And observe the rule of seating at all dinners . . . wives and husbands are not seated next to each other.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

To acquire that soft, velvety, porcelain-like complexion, add to your beauty kit a good foundation cream, one that disappears under manipulations of the finger tips. Impossible to compound these tricky cosmetics at home, but practically all makers of beauty helps include them in their list of cosmetic offerings. Atop the foundation cream apply ivory powder and then put on the trimmings by the use of orange red rouge.

Fine, silky, oily hair requires more than the casual shampoo. Remove surface dust by vigorous sweeps of the hair brush. Rinse with a bath spray and use melted soap, particles from the bar have a mean way of adhering to the strands. Friction into a live, crackling suds, rinse with the spray, give a second soaping and see that the next spraying is prolonged. The vinegar rinse is advisable. Two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a quart of water.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Greatly Begin

"Greatly begin," was advice given to the aspiring youth by a sage of a recent age. He added that "not failure, but low aim is crime." His advice is just as applicable to the game of Contract Bridge, with its struggle of partnership against partnership and of "pastboard army" against "pasteboard army," as to the affairs of the world.

An interesting example of how a Contract expert vainly sought to prevent his vulnerable opponents from reaching a probable Slam is given on the hand below, which was played in a recent team-of-four match between two strong eastern teams.

West—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

	♠ 9 7 3 2 ♡ A Q J 4 ◇ A Q J 6 ♣ 6
♠ 6 4 ♡ 5 ◇ 3 2 ♣ Q J 10 7 5 4 3 2	North West East South	♠ K J 10 ♡ 10 9 3 2 ◇ 10 9 8 5 4 ♣ 9
	♠ A Q 8 5 ♡ K 8 7 6 ◇ K 7 ♣ A K 8

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
	1♡(1)	Double(2)	Redouble(3)
Pass(4)	1NT(5)	Double	2◇
Double(6)	2♠(7)	Double	Pass
Pass	3♣(8)	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass(9)	3♠	Pass
5♠	Pass	6♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

(1) A pure bluff bid, but West knows he has no defense against any possible adverse contract. He seeks to erect a psychological defense by seizing the offensive in the bidding.

(2) The first step in exposing the paucity of West's honor holdings.

(3) Continuing partner's psychological barrage.

(4) A very fine pass, indicating a willingness to play the hand at one heart redoubled.

(5) Still concealing the escape suit.

(6) A matter of course. South, of course, knows that practically all honor strength is held by him and his partner.

(7) More deception.

(8) The penalty, if played at two spades doubled, would be too great. West must show his escape suit, weak though it is.

(9) West surrenders, but he certainly made a gallant fight.

The Slam contract, which North and South undertook, was, of course, made, requiring only a single finesse in the trump suit. Mr. John P. Mattheys, who held the West hand, made a gallant but vain effort to prevent opponents from reaching their correct contract. His bidding is not to be commended from the standpoint of theory, but against any except strong opposition would doubtless have brought a most satisfactory result.

Today's Question:

Does the following holding constitute an Opening bid by Fourth Hand, vulnerable?

♠ — — ♡ Q ◇ A J 7 5 3 ♣ A 8 7 6 5 4 3

Answer. Certainly not. The hand contains slightly more than two honor-tricks, the minimum requirements for a Third or Fourth Hand one-bid being three honor-tricks. Further-

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

There's one thing that the depression can't stop, and that's romance. In spite of economic difficulties all over the country, folks are still being married, although most ceremonies are simpler than a year or so ago. And plighting of troth always take place in the good old summer time.

Today I've news of a betrothal. The Charles Monroe Murrays, of St. James street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Caroline Wilson Murray, to Charles Buckley Baton, son of the George Scott Batons, of South Graham street.

Caroline is a graduate of Smith, class of 1931, and her fiance, of Princeton. Caroline has had as her house guest, by the way, Elizabeth Jones, of Westfield, N. J. Over the past week-end, Caroline gave a buffet supper in her home. And Mrs. Baton, in town for a few days, was one of the guests. She has now returned to Ross Mountain Park, New Florence, Pa., that attractive private resort.

Have you heard that pretty Nancy Craig, daughter of the Mark Rodgers Craigs, of Sewickley, plans to be away this fall? She will leave in mid-September for Pasadena, where she'll be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Samuel S. Henderson, of Brookville, Pa., who has taken a winter home there.

Triangle Club Lists Many Special Events

The new year books of the Triangle Club of Wilkinsburg list a number of special events which are supplementary to the regular meetings. There's a Hallowe'en party, a visit to the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind, a trip to KDKA, to the Heinz Plant and to Utility Hall, an evening party and an evening entertainment.

An old-fashioned basket picnic is the opening event of the season which is an established inaugural with Triangle members. The October meeting is designated as "fall flower day." A sale for the blind will feature the November meeting, December's will, of course, be the Chfistmas party, and the American home is the study subject assigned for January.

Triangle program makers take no half-way measures in choosing diversified topics, for on one program are combined "The Sinking of the Maine" and "The Origin of the Valentine," and on others "Panama Canal" and "Famous Painters and Pictures," "The Robin" and "International Relations."

The year closes with the annual meeting and the June luncheon.

Legion Auxiliary Shows $70,000 Spent on Welfare Work

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Welfare work that involved an expenditure of $70,000 and the distribution of 10,000 garments were reported this morning at the business session of the American Legion Auxiliary in convention here. The convention was formally opened in Moose Temple with an elaborate ceremony which included a tribute to the flag and a memorial service. In addition to the general welfare work, which has not been exclusively among veterans' families, the Pennsylvania Auxiliary through its councils and units maintains seven college scholarships for World War orphans.

After the president's parley luncheon in Kaufmann's today the auxiliary goes into caucus to nominate candidates for election tomorrow. Three nominees are in the field for the presidency to succeed Mrs. Thomas J. Meany, Jr., of Philadelphia. They are Mrs. Erm R. Beadle, of Shamokin, now central vice president; Mrs. Lewis Conrad, of Hanover, and Mrs. W. J. Lloyd, of Uniontown, now western vice president.

Today's Speakers

Speakers at this afternoon's session are George Proesl, Legion commander; Dr. Henry Rolf Brown, of the Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall, and Miss Ellen Rockford, the Legion chairman of welfare.

The tea given yesterday in the Woman's City Club by Mrs. Meany for her executive board and local convention committee was attended by 125 guests. Mrs. Meany, Mrs. Proesl, Mr. Lloyd, Mrs. Beadle and Mrs. Burton Oplinger, of Allentown, eastern vice president, received together. There was music by a string trio during the receiving hours, 3 to 5, and the beautifully appointed tea table had an elaborate centerpiece of mixed flowers arranged about a silver gazing ball.

The local convention committee entertained at dinner last night in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association for the state executive board.

AS YOU DESIRE ME

to make skin soft, youthful —firm yet yielding

this much OLIVE OIL goes into every cake of Palmolive →

RIGHT now — touch your own skin with your finger tips. Is it soft, smooth, youthful? Is it firm yet yielding to your touch? Is it quite as you desire it? Then think! How can you seem desirable to others?

Charm can be yours!

Skin can be kept young indefinitely. And you — no matter what you think — may have a youthful, firm skin. But you must follow expert advice. Read the simple rule experts give you.

Olive oil beautifies!

But how to use it? More than 20,000 beauty experts answer — in soap — in Palmolive — the one great soap the beauty ingredient of which is largely olive oil. Use it — they say — diligently, faithfully. Use it on face and neck — on the whole body. Rub the rich youth-giving lather right into the skin.

Then see the result!

Your reward will be the skin of youth. Because Palmolive does soothe, smooth and soften skin. It does tone skin to youthful firmness. It will give your skin that charm — that freshness — that something which makes you — keeps you desirable.

AN ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH
Palmolive contains only vegetable oils—no artificial coloring. Photo shows actual amount of olive oil that goes into each 10c cake.

Club Notes

An especially interesting feature of the twentieth anniversary number of Pittsburgh Hadassah's year book is a history of the national organization by Mrs. E. B. Friedberg, of the local chapter. In this article Mrs. Friedberg has shown that Hadassah sprang full-fledged into a responsible, hard working organization, that "it knew no helpless infancy, no shy and sheltered years, no coddling, no grooming for future performance," and that it was from the first "a vital force in the life of the whole population of Palestine and an inspiration to scattered Jewry everywhere."

Mrs. I. H. Levin, retiring president of the chapter, writes a greeting for her constituents: there's a note on Hadassah in neighboring communities showing the number affiliated in the Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio region. Messages from Miss Myrtle Marcus, president of Junior Haddassah, and Miss Flora Snyder, president of the Pittsburgh Leaders' Council, precede the list of officers and committees, reports and the membership roll.

This afternoon local Hadassah members are holding a card party at Webster Hall as a benefit for administration expenses. A "table of sweets" is in charge of Mrs. M. J. Josephson, Mrs. Frank Rubenstein, Mrs. Israel Safyan, Mrs. Aaron Olbum, Mrs. S. I. Meyers and Mrs. Robert Davidson. Mrs. Samuel Gladstone, chairman of aides, has as her assistants Mrs. A. M. Selser, Mrs. Louis Leventon, Mrs. Sydney Wilcoff, Mrs. Joseph Cohn, Mrs. Louis Azen, Mrs. J. O. Spector, Mrs. Sylvester Ulmar, Miss Irene Wolf, Miss Hilda Lieberman, Miss Frances Goldberg, Miss Fannie Kartub, Miss Olga Friedman, Miss Frances Rosenberg, Miss Goldie Snyder, Miss Esther Rogow, Miss Ellen Gumberg, Mrs. J. B. Zeligsohn, Mrs. Arthur Friedman and Mrs. Max Kleber.

VELVET IS PUT TO STRANGE NEW USES IN SUMMER ATTIRE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 18. — Velvet keeps strange company nowadays. Far from the formal, after-6-only, dress-up fabric it used to be, it now appears on practically every type of costume, up to and including sports dresses and raincoats.

STRANGEST of all its new uses are those connected with summer clothes. There are new types of velvet especially designed for summer uses—firm but thin weaves which give the desired opaque effects without undue heaviness. These are used for light summer coats and jackets, and even for suits. For summer evening clothes there are all sorts of new velvet weaves—many of them with dull, lusterless surfaces, used by the French to make evening wraps that vary from tiny shoulder capes to ankle length evening coats. Velvets of this type are especially effective for wraps that have full sleeves.

VELVETS AS trimmings on dresses of cotton linen or silk, are among the favorite 1932 fashion themes. They appear in little jackets with matching belts, as sashes, as scarfs and as bows to tie blouses and jackets in place.

BRUYERE IS one of the designers which makes clever use of the velvet bow. She puts it on silk sports frocks—usually in some bright color against a background of white. Just such an arrangement is shown in today's sketch—a white crepe de chine frock, whose only spot of color is a navy blue velvet bow tied into the neckline. The dress itself is simply fashioned, with a separate blouse that slips on over the head and ties around the waist.

TWO TONES of pink linen are used in the Fauvety dress, also shown in today's sketch. The paler linen is used for the skirt portion, while both tones appear in the blouse. The little cape is reversible—pale pink on one side and deeper pink on the other, with a scarf of the deep pink drawn through the eyelets which mark the neckline.

KING PUTS BAN ON AUTOGRAPHS

Autograph hunters seeking the signatures of King George and the Prince of Wales are doomed to disappointment, Acting British Vice Consul Fred Kennedy stated today.

Because of a national competition for autographs thousands of letters have been addressed to the King and the Prince, the consulate here has been advised by the British embassy at Washington which adds:

"In order to save expense, trouble and disappointment to members of the American public who have written or propose to write such letters it is desirable to state that His Majesty and His Royal Highness have laid it down as a rule never to give their autographs, and that no exception to this rule can be made in any circumstances whatever."

What Next

The Great American Scene is constantly colored by the efforts of the corner druggist to afford his patrons every possible convenience. It is now an old gag that you have to be able to pass a sandwich examination before you can become a drug-clerk, and the entire nation has learned that it can go to the drug store for a meal, a balloon tire, or crepe for your neighbor's funeral.

But the latest move in the vast Branching Out System is evidenced in Long Island. By actual count, there are 16 pharmacies along Queens Bl. and Merrick Road, which have undertaken to act as neighborhood employment agencies for housemaids, cooks and gardeners.

Tomorrow I expect my "chemist" to inform me that he is prepared to take over the handling of my Wall St. account. All of which wouldn't be a bad idea. I think the last fellow who handled it was a butcher.

Quite True!

Harry Gould calls our attention to a scientific paragraph which reads: "The whirlpool of water, draining from a bathtub, inspired the invention of the famous Maxim silencer on firearms," and then complains that there would have been even more money and fame in it for Maxim had he been inspired to invent a silencer for bathroom tenors.

Also Candid

John Fahrner, Jr., of Joliet, Ill., reports the candor of a local shopkeeper who has posted a sign over his entrance reading:

"Nothing sold here on Sunday—And darned little during the week."

Rackets Go On

That handsome young beggar who accosts you for alms in the East 40's and astounds you with his immaculate appearance and his Park Ave. manner is in his twenties and until six months ago wrote scenarios for one of the major companies in Hollywood.

"It's an ideal life for a fellow like me," he smilingly philosophized when I got him in Childs for his story; "My beat is from Forty-second street to Fifty-ninth, between Broadway and Lexington, and I don't stop working until I've made $5. That grosses me $35 a week.

"I haven't looked for work since I came to New York. I pay $3 a week for a fairly clean room in a Bowery hotel, feed myself on $10 and spend $3.50 a week for gin. You've got to be ginned up to approach people on the street for money. At that rate I save close to 20 bucks and I've been putting it in the bank.

"Of course all the boys from the Bowery meet up in Central Park around 3 in the afternoon, and after all the subjects of interest are discussed, they start on a scouting tour. Most of them are satisfied with a quarter and stop as soon as they get it. I hold out for my full quota."

According to this highly organized beggar, 4 per cent of the people accosted shell out, and the average donation is 15 cents.

And I thought writing a column was easy money.

Politics

Karen Morley appears with Lionel Barrymore in "Washington Masquerade," feature film in the Sheridan Square.

Local Appeal

Charles A. Wagner, the better poet, reports a display in the window of a Second avenue dairy restaurant which consisted of a large white puffy cake elaborately trimmed with colored flowers made of whipped cream. In the center of the street-urchin's dream was the piece de resistance—a sculpture in ice of a herring.

Oops!

To combat the contentions of Mr. Sumner, New York indefatigable censor, the Bureau of Social Hygiene recently sent out 10,000 questionaires to as many unmarried women and college graduates. Among the questions included was:

"How and from whom did you receive the earliest information about sex matters in your recollection?"

Six per cent of the answers gave books as the sources. Of the books mentioned, the Bible and the dictionary were first and second.

Add Sillys

Harry Richman offers the latest silly about two hermits who had lived in the most deserted region of the Sahara for 15 years without seeing another soul.

The other turned quickly.

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Last season Ed Wynn exposed to the savage glare of Broadway a show he called "Laugh Parade." Blase Broadway called it a fairish entertainment, and said it ought to run for at least a month. Instead, it proved one of the durable pieces of the season and ran for many months, continuing from the beginning of November until the last week in May. With one full season in New York to its credit "Laugh Parade" will soon take to the road with bookings that will cover East, West and South and Canadian cities for a period of 38 weeks. Big musical productions ordinarily do not take chances on such extensive tours. Rehearsals already are in progress for an opening in Boston September 3. The cast will be intact with two exceptions. Elsi Ersi, from the music halls of Paris, will take the place of Jeanne Aubert. Lawrence Gray will be replaced by Earle Oxford, who was a principal in the last Ziegfeld "Follies."

Studios employ "technical directors" in order that all kinds of things, from games to institutions, may appear authentic when seen on the screen. A hospital operating room must seem like the real thing, so an expert is consulted. Gambling rooms call for the opinion of professional gamblers so everything from chips to wheels be as they should be. But in the case of "Hold 'Em Jail," comedy, starring Wheeler and Woolsey, the technical director's advice was reversed in almost everything. The idea was to make the prison as unlike a real one as possible.

Eddie Cantor, it is announced, will make a picture a year for five years, and will be occupied in vaudeville and on the radio in the time he is away from the studio. When his picture, "The Kid From Spain," is completed, he will make a vaudeville tour.

Dog Stars of the Pictures Lost Their Leader In Rin-Tin-Tin

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Another great actor has passed away. We mourn the death of Rin Tin Tin. Too bad he won stellar glory in the days of the silent movies, because Rin Tin Tin had the best diction in Hollywood. He never mispronounced a word nor slurred a syllable. And there was never a sniff of scandal about him, so his son may be proud of his father's memory.

We never heard of any wild parties in which Rin Tin Tin took champagne baths. He always went to bed when the curfew rang, if it rings in Hollywood. Nobody ever called him a "gay dog." He brought more evildoers to justice than any master detective, and never accepted a bribe. Always ready to rescue innocence and virtue when endangered by wicked men, he was never known to be late when duty called. Through icy blizzards and blazing forest fires he rushed unafraid, never expecting a pension or a bonus for his deeds of heroism. If he was not killed, burnt up or frozen to death long before his 14 years came to a close, it must be because there's a special providence for dogs.

Mr. Seibel

DESERVES A MONUMENT

There ought to be a monument to Rin Tin Tin in Hollywood, as there is for Greyfriars Bobby in Edinburgh. If for no other reason, because he was one of the first German actors to make good in America after the war. During that war we patriotically stoned Dachshunds, but the German shepherd dog—the police dog, as we call him—came into favor almost immediately after.

First was Strongheart. Jane Murfin, just married, wrote plays for him. People didn't know his real name was Etzel von Oeringen, and that Etzel is the German word for Attila, who was king of the Huns. There was another canine star—Peter the Great—and when he was shot the court awarded his owner damages of $100,000. No one ever heard of that much damages being paid for the shooting of any human actor out in Hollywood.

Then came Rin Tin Tin, to share American triumphs with Max Reinhardt and Alexander Moissi. He came of a race that had been educated to the limit of canine possibility.

It's a pity no one dramatized Jack London's "Call of the Wild" for Rin Tin Tin. Maybe they did and gave it some silly title like "The Wolf Licks Blood." If dogs have ghosts—and once I knew a man who said the ghost of his dog followed him everywhere—I hope the ghost of Rin Tin Tin will bite the people who make some of the Hollywood titles.

NOW WITH OLD DOG TRAY

Maybe they thought of "The Call of the Wild," but Rin Tin Tin objected because he refused to play the villainous half-wolf reverting to ancestral evil ways. Aside from the purity of his morals, no doubt, Rin Tin Tin was just as gentle as Old Dog Tray. These traits, we feel and hope, will be transmitted to his son, who is following the profession of his father and will shortly make his debut in the talkies—perhaps we ought to say the "barkies."

It had been planned to let Rin Tin Tin himself come back to the screen in a picture called "Pride of the Legion." The Mascot Pictures Corporation had given him a contract. Because of his advanced years, Rin Tin Tin Junior was taken on as understudy. He will now complete the picture, but can never take his father's place in our hearts.

They have laid Rin Tin Tin away in the Hollywood home of his trainer, with appropriate rites and ceremonies. All the Hollywood animals have gone into mourning, from the proud MGM lion down to the humblest hen in "The Old Homestead." They mourn him because he never looked down on any of them, although he made fabulous sums of money. He never put on any dog.

LAST VISIT HERE

The last time I saw Rin Tin Tin was his personal appearance here in the Davis Theater. He had no artistic temperament—he seemed somewhat bored with the adulation he was receiving—that was all. Perhaps he had premonitions that his dog days were over—perhaps he had glimpses of a kennel beside the Styx where he could pick a friendly bone with all the great dogs of history, from the three-headed Cerberus who watches the gate of Hell to Rip Van Winkle's dog, which Joe Jefferson would never permit to come into the play, although he talked about him so convincingly that I have met people who vow they saw that dog.

George Marion Signs For Film Role

George Marion, who won fame as Chris Christopherson in Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie," has been assigned a principal role in the Fox picture, "Six Hours to Live," which will feature Warner Baxter and Miriam Jordan, English actress, in the leading roles. John Boles is also featured in this production, which William Dieterle is now directing.

Morris to Play Lead In New Picture

Chester Morris has been signed for the male lead in "Breach of Promise," based on Rupert Hughes' "Obscurity," which Edwin Carewe and Benjamin Verschliser are producing for World Wide Pictures. Mae Clark will play the leading feminine role.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

BY MARK HELLINGER

The Final Reaction.

I SAT the other night in one of the most popular cabarets in New York. As a matter of fact, it's the only cafe in town that is doing real business at the present time, The Hollywood Restaurant.

With me sat an ex-director of motion pictures. In his day, he was one of the most powerful figures in the film industry. He scaled the heights and he was internationally recognized. Today he has turned to other fields. He is wise, cynical and just a little tired.

The regular master of ceremonies, Mr. Nils T. Granlund, was away on this particular night. His substitute was announcing the various acts and doing a capable job. Miss Patti Hastings, one of the prettiest girls along the big street, was just completing a fast routine.

The ex-director looked around.

"Big crowd here tonight," Mark," he observed. "I guess most of them get a big kick out of all this."

"I guess so," I returned vaguely.

There was a roll of drums. The master of ceremonies stepped forth. In his hand was a sheet of paper.

"I just want to interrupt the proceedings for a moment," he asserted. "We have four young ladies with us tonight whom I would like you all to meet. They were the fortunate winners of a beauty contest conducted by one of the larger film concerns and they are now on their way to Hollywood, Cal., to enter the movies under contract. They are all from small towns in the East.

"The first one is"—he looked at the paper—"Miss Helen Jones. Stand up, Helen, and take a bow."

Polite applause ran through the club. A girl arose. Her eyes were sparkling. She bowed in choppy fashion. She sat down.

I didn't have to interview that kid. I've interviewed so many like her that I know their reactions by heart. Here is what Helen Jones would have said to me:

"I'm just thrilled to death, that's what I am. This is my first visit to New York, you know. Yes, it is. And I've never got such a kick out of anything in all my life. Goodness, but it is huge!

"Do I expect to make good in pictures? Why, that's kind of a silly question. I just know I'll be a big star before very long. I'm going to work like the very devil, and you can bet your last penny that you'll see my name in lights before I've been in Hollywood six months.

"Have I had any experience in acting? Oh, yes. Quite a bit. I played all the leading roles in the church affairs and I was the president of our dramatic society in high school. I'm not worried at all about the acting part of it.

"There isn't much more I can say except to tell you again that I'm just thrilled to death. Imagine me being lucky enough to get such a chance as this! It's just about the happiest person in the whole world."...

The master of ceremonies was talking again.

"Now I want you all to meet Miss Alma Smith. Stand up, Alma."

A dark girl arose. Slowly. She was evidently acting already. She waved in a languorous fashion. She sat down.

And what would Alma say to me if I talked to her? Very simple:

"If you really want to know the truth, I'm going to be one of the biggest stars in Hollywood inside of a year. That's not conceit talking. I know my ability in that direction. And I'm not going to let anything stand in my way.

"Will I look for marriage in Hollywood? Well, I doubt it. I was engaged to a boy in my home town, you know. Certainly. But I broke it as soon as I heard the big news. I'm not the kind of girl to be tied down to a small town druggist when my career lies in the movies. I'm not that dumb.

"You watch my smoke out there, Mister Reporter. Opportunity knocked at my door and it didn't catch me napping. Don't forget my name. And look for it in big headlines before very long. I'm getting a big kick out of life right now. And the kick's going to get bigger as I go along." . . .

Once more the master of ceremonies.

"The next little girl is Miss Pauline Doe. Let the folks get a look at you, Pauline."

Up stood Pauline. A blonde this time. Inclined to be plump. The type of girl who considered herself very wise in the ways of the world.

You want her reaction? Certainly. Anything to oblige:

"Naturally I'm very thrilled about this. I wouldn't be human if it didn't hand me a thrill. But nobody's kidding me about anything. I know just what goes on in Hollywood. I've been reading the columnists and the picture magazines for a long time. I'm smart to all the angles.

"I've known plenty of smart guys, believe you me. But they all wind up behind the eight ball as far as I'm concerned. And smart guys are the same the world over.

"Those three girls with me aren't going to get any place. They think they are, but I know they haven't got what it takes. You watch me, Mr. Hellinger. I'm going to be the biggest of the big."...

For the last time, the master of ceremonies.

"And last, but not least, we have Miss Dorothy Mack. Give her a nice hand, folks."

Dorothy stands. She the shyest of the four. A pretty child, really. Blue eyes and a beautiful pair of hands. She smiles in an embarrassed fashion. She sits hurriedly. Her interview would have been the easiest of all:

"Oh, no," she would have told me, "father didn't want me to make this trip. He said that I wasn't born to be an actress and that my place was at home. But mother's a peach. She stood right up for me and told papa that every girl should have her chance in life. And mother won out. Gee, she's great.

"Isn't this club just grand? And aren't you thrilled to be a real New Yorker? It must be wonderful to live here all the time and ride in subways whenever you want to. But I think I'm going to like Hollywood even more. They say it's very beautiful out there. I'm so excited about it all.

"Will I make good? You just bet I will. I'm going to do it for mamma, if for nobody else. She has so much faith in me and I owe her everything. She'll be so proud when she's the mother of a great picture star. As soon as I get enough money, I'm going to bring her to Hollywood right away and have her live with me.

"I'll bet you're not interested in what I'm saying. Well, I'm so excited that I don't blame you. Isn't life wonderful?" . . .

I turned to the ex-director. During the introductions, he had made no comment.

"I've just been thinking about those girls," I said. "Can you imagine their feelings right now? Young. On their way to Hollywood. Everything new. What a thrill!"

The wise man looked at me. His cynical voice grew suddenly soft. He sighed.

"Poor kids," was all he said . . .

Immediately following the completion of her role as the heroine in Columbia's "Night Mayor," Evalyn Knapp will start on another important production. She has been assigned the featured feminine lead in Jack Holt's next starring vehicle "Polo," adopted from the story by Dudley Nichols.

"Polo," which presents Holt as an international polo player, will have a shifting background from a western cavalry post, to Long Island society circles where the international matches are played. Miss Knapp, recently signed to a long term contract by Columbia, will play the role of Holt's motherless daughter.

VETS AND LEGION OFFICERS CLASH ON CONCESSIONS

POLITICS

Justice Kephart's Boom For Governor Grows

—By MARK SHIELDS—

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—As the gubernatorial candidacy of State Chairman Edward Martin has encountered heavy weather during and since the Republican national convention, and through the eight confused weeks of the special legislative session, so has the candidacy of Supreme Court Justice John Kephart been given an impetus.

Mr. Shields

Any one who believes Justice Kephart is not a candidate still has faith in Santa Claus and the wording of labels on bottles on contraband liquor. The Cambria County jurist is a candidate now, as he has been perennially for the past several years. This time, however, he is receiving some encouragement which heretofore has been lacking, and the field is not so strong as in previous pre-primary campaigns, when he has faded from the picture as the time for announcement neared.

Martin-Hazlett Act Amazed Politicians

There is little doubt that Justice Kephart, has a substantial support in Philadelphia. Gen. Martin has angled for that support also, picking City Chairman James M. Hazlett as the medium through which to work. The impotence of Hazlett was evidenced this week when his promise to Martin to support the cigaret tax bill evaporated under the influence of William S. Vare. Hazlett and Martin worked together in Chicago at the convention, frequently to the confusion and amazement of not only Philadelphia delegates, but politicians from other parts of the state, who were astounded to see Hazlett give orders contrary to Vare's wishes, but advantageous to Martin's desire to play ball with the White House. There was wonderment then as to how long such a situation could last.

The answer to that question came this week. It can last only so long as Vare refrains from being aroused, which is not a profitabel outlook for the state chairman.

Kephart's hold on Philadelphia has a higher authority than can be furnished by Hazlett, at best no more than an agent. It comes through Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The general is potent with Vare. It has been understood that he really is the business power behind the Philadelphia organization, and in the last analysis can get what he wants. There are few who doubt that he wants Kephart as Governor.

Kephart Reviving Old Alliances

The Supreme Court Justice himself is not quiescent in the play of politics now going on. He is reviving old alliances, fertilizing old fields in which he hopes to sprout some blossoms of support. He really started his campaign at the last county committee meeting in Allegheny County.

In Carnegie Hall on the North Side he came to the county committee meeting as a volunteer, and to an extent, self invited guest, though he said he had been requested to come by Senator James J. Coyne. Those present, and any who may remember newspaper accounts of that meeting, will recall that Judge Kephart was brutally direct in his charge that Gen. Martin was fumbling a political situation and putting the play in the hands of Gov. Pinchot.

The tenor of the Kephart statement was that if he was running the game Mr. Pinchot would not get so far. Subsequent developments have tended to confirm his prediction that the Governor was going to embarrass the Republican organization.

Since that appearance Justice Kephart has been no shrinking political violet. He has appeared at political gatherings, and his whole theme has been an indictment of the present leadership—if any—of the party in the state.

Martin Given Blame For G. O. P. Blunders

It may be early to talk about Gubernatorial booms of 1934 with Mr. Pinchot not yet half way through his term. But the booms are booming for both Martin and Kephart and the jurist has been favored in that he has not been in the delicate position occupied by Gen. Martin, who as leader of his party has been in the position to make mistakes, and even be blamed for those he didn't make.

The present plan of the Legislature is to adjourn finally some time in the darkness of Friday morning. The Senate is to meet a few minutes after midnight tomorrow and complete action on the 1 per cent sales tax. That will fulfill calendar requirements which demand three days consideration of a bill before it can pass.

It is well the thing will be over. Let us accord full measure of sympathy to the 258 legislators, who, no matter what tax they sought to impose, no matter what means they sought of furnishing relief, encountered opposition. They have had a perplexing and thankless job.

Yet, giving them all that kindliness, I can imagine nothing more appropriate than this extraordinary—most extraordinary—session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should adjourn in the dark and silently dissolve in the night.

LEGION URGED TO DRIVE FOR STATE BONUS

Campaign for Approval Of Voters Planned At Convention

An active educational campaign by American Legion posts in the state for enactment of the state bonus bill, which will be before voters at the fall election next year, today was urged in the annual report of Pennsylvania Department officers submitted to delegates at the state convention.

State Commander George J. Poosl, of DuBois, lauded the posts that assisted bonus army marchers on their trek to Washington. State Adjutant James J. Deighan, of Philadelphia, urged an active campaign for the state bonus in his report. The bill already has passed two successive sessions of the Legislature. Approval by voters is required to make it a law.

Improved hospitalization conditions in the state were cited by Proesl. Two hundred additional beds at the Aspinwall Hospital are expected to be ready in February, he stated, while additions at Coatesville will be available in November. A decrease of 170 cases in the number of veterans hospitalized outside the state was reported by Deighan. All cases totaled 2,345 as against 2,284 last year. Veterans awaiting hospitalization totaled 4,952.

Proesl reported active congressional support has been promised for two additional hospitals in the state.

Legionnaires in the state total 63,789, Deighan reported, with 190 of the 583 posts increasing their membership. Legion efforts in the state against unemployment resulted in 218 towns providing employment for 55,715 persons, according to the state adjutant.

3 Youths Hurt as Truck Hits Trolley

Three youths were taken to Allegheny General Hospital today after the truck in which they were riding collided with a Hazelwood street car at Second avenue and the Tenth Street Bridge. They were Peter Velosick, 26, of 4534 Chatsworth street, driver of the truck; his brother, Joseph, 13, and Peter Bukk, 15. William Downey, operator of the street car, was not injured.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 18.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Things are picking up politically. "Mr. Hoover caught a fish three feet long." As the last two Presidents seems to be judged as much by their fishing as any other accomplishment, why it's funny we don't nominate one of those "whaling" captains, and get a real fisherman in the White House. Just think of the relief of a movie audience looking weekly, President Gustavos Svenson

Will Rogers landing a two hundred-ton whale. It looks like whale oil will replace banana oil in public office.

I have read all Presidential speeches on both sides up to now, and the winner is the man smart enough to not make any more. There is a great chance for a "silent" third party.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Al Will Talk; Silence to Him Is 3rd Degree

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Grab yourself a list of the boy orators who are going to chatter high, wide and ambitious for Roosevelt.

Franklin has Garner, Cox, Davis, Ely, Ritchie, Byrd, Moore, Copeland, Wagner, Wheeler, Costigan and Lewis. In case of a tie he can toss in Timulty, Newt Baker and Tunney.

Only Al Smith is missing from the lineup and he's waiting until he gets his talking points back from Hoover.

Al and Jack Garner had a talk in New York this week and the subject wasn't how to wash sand out of spinach. Al likes his speeches too much to keep silent. Tammany is an old organization but it doesn't date back to the Egyptian Sphinxes.

Al will talk because with him silence is the third degree. Start him off on a load of hay and he will still be orating when they pitchfork him into the barn.

It's a great team of Democratic shillabers. And when you combine that with logic it's a balanced diet.

Another demonstration came early in the meeting during the reading of the annual report of State Adjutant John J. Deighan, when he declared the Pennsylvania department stands for full payment of the bonus right now.

Two guest speakers were to be heard on the program mostly devoted to reading of reports. They were National Vice Commander Richard F. Paul, of Boston, and Watson B. Miller, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee. Election of convention committees, delegates and alternates to the national convention and nominations of vice commanders was the important action planned.

Downtown streets were enlivened last night as wartime buddies made merry with noise makers, songs and bands. The visitors were being housed in every hotel. Marching bands from out-of-town posts performed for strollers and theatergoers with military precision in drills and music. Members of the "40 and 8," fun-making organization of the veterans, were conspicuous with their boxcars and locomotives.

SHOWER OF FEATHERS

The state executive committee met in closed session, discussing matters to be brought before the membership and completing final arrangements. The local convention committee, in charge of all arrangements preparatory to what is expected to be the city's largest convention, turned the management over to the state department.

While legionnaires prepared to attend a fish fry and corn roast this afternoon at Turner's Grove, Perrysville, the auxiliary was to be entertained at Forbes Field by the Pirates and Dodgers.

The legion business sessions are being confined to mornings. Former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels will be the guest speaker tomorrow. Gov. Pinchot and Gen. Smedley Butler are expected for Saturday's meeting and to review the six-hour parade. Another public feature will be the state competition of uniformed drum and bugle corps tomorrow night at Forbes Field. Thirteen Class A and 10 Class B corps will compete.

Specially erected reviewing stands for the public will be available for Saturday's parade, which begins at 1:30 o'clock. The seats, erected near the official reviewing stand on Ridge avenue, North Side, are available at special ticket offices in the William Penn Hotel lobby, Gimbel Brothers, Kaufmann's, McCreery & Co. and Boggs & Buhl.

Hearing Delayed On Trolley Line

The hearing on the receivership of the Insull controlled Altoona and Logan Valley Electric Railway Company of Altoona, slated for today, will be held August 30, it was decided in Federal Court today. Litigation in Blair County was given as the cause of postponement.

NON-OFFICIAL SALESMEN ARRESTED

Licenses Unavailing In Triangle Zone; Three Freed

Dissention broke out today between the American Legion official concessionaires and individual veterans, many of them disabled. The veterans not associated with the concessionaires have been forbidden to sell novelties on downtown streets.

Armed with state and city licenses to sell novelties on the streets, the veterans yesterday and today appeared on the streets, crying their wares. Several were arrested; one spent a night in jail.

In protest, a group of the veterans called on I. Robbins & Son, concessionaires, at their headquarters in the old City Hall.

VENDORS RULED OUT

Referred to Edward Schietinger, chairman of the legion concessions committee, they were told by him:

"I won't have anything to do with you.

"The city and county have refused to help our convention. The Retail Merchants Association has done nothing for us. The only way we could hold this convention in Pittsburgh was by selling the novelties concession at a substantial price to Robbins."

Schietinger told the Sun-Telegraph:

"These men cannot sell our official badge. If they want to sell other novelties—flags and things—they can if the police will let them."

Asked if he hadn't requested the police to arrest anyone selling any convention novelties, he said:

"Yes, I did. If they want to sell novelties, let them wait until the convention's over."

OPPOSE NON-VETS

The vets complained that salesmen of favors, badges, flags and novelties hired by Robbins are women, old men, youths who have never seen Army service. Many, they said, like the vets themselves, are from other towns and cities.

It was learned that, even armed with licenses, vendors are not allowed to sell in the downtown area below Grant street.

Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, granted official Legion concessionaires permission to vend in the restricted district, at designated corners. Today they took their stands on corners, office buildings in the middle of blocks—apparently ignoring the restriction.

I. Robbins, head of the concession firm, said:

"Our salesmen are better than these men. We will not give these men permission to sell for us.

THREE ARRESTED

Two of the vets, Walter Taylor, 42, and Mike Treach, 32, of "city," were arrested at Fifth avenue and Wood street, while Sam Berwitz, 26, of 217 Dinwiddie street, was arrested in William Penn way.

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg discharged them when they showed vendors' permits issued by the City Treasurer. The discharge was with the understanding that they would not work further, under penalty of 30 days in jail.

VICE CHARGES CLOSE 'LID' IN SHARPSBURG

Sharpsburg was supposed to be a "closed" town today by order of Burgess Dennis Caspar, following a hectic meeting of the Borough Council last night, at which charges of racketeering, irregularities, inefficiency and police connivance at vice were hurled at officials and their relatives.

With Councilman Lawrence A. Bragg declaring that the law put the responsibility squarely on the Burgess and that Burgess Caspar "should clean up the borough or resign," the latter ended the discussion with the declaration "Sharpsburg will be closed tomorrow."

INDORSED BY CHIEF

This statement was echoed by Chief of Police Samuel Fair.

Councilmen Leo R. Horstman and Bragg, chairmen of the finance and water committees respectively, were removed from their posts by Chairman of Council Alfred V. Pontello, at last night's session and assigned to other committees, presumably in retaliation for their attack on the borough administration.

Horstman, in a statement, declared he had been removed because he had disclosed details of the "political spoils system" and that Sharpsburg was "broke."

Horstman charged that "startling irregularities would be revealed by an audit of the borough books over the last five years; that relatives of Burgess Caspar and some of the councilmen were drawing hundreds of dollars weekly from the slot machine and liquor concessions; that a confiscated still was taken from a room in the police station to which Chief Fair and a lieutenant, only had keys; that borough labor and material were used in wiring homes of councilmen that the payroll was burdened by relatives of councilmen; that one member of the police force drew pay for walking the streets without badge or uniform.

ACCUSES COUNCILMAN

Bragg charged that soon after Pontello became chairman of Council a Main street building, which had been vacant, was turned into a "booze joint."

Bragg asserted:

"It is reported that the Burgess' brother controls the slot machine racket and draws $400 to $500 weekly from it."

Horstmann said that he had been told by Chief Fair there was no discipline in the police force and that when shown a list of 20 alleged vice resorts, Fair replied:

"What's the use of closing them; someone else would object."

Burgess Caspas asked the audience present if anyone remembers when Sharpsburg was "dry." The answer was a thunder of "noes."

Before the fireworks started, Council ratified discharge of four employes of the water bureau and eight other borough employes to keep down the payroll.

NADINE ROAD PLANS UPSET, SAYS BARR

Disclosure of the County Commissioners' plan to leave the Pennsylvania Water Company high and dry, so far as the Allegheny River boulevard controversy is concerned, has aroused the ire of Commissioner C. M. Barr.

Barr declared inadvertant newspaper publicity has ruined chances of forcing a settlement with the water company and refused to talk for publication. He referred reporters to Director of Highways F. J. Chester for details of the plans for the boulevard.

Several weeks ago Commissioner William D. Mansfield announced that he had reached an agreement whereby the county by paying $140,000 to the Pennsylvania Water Company could get the right of way through the pumping station property. The water company has been holding up completion of the boulevard for more than a year.

Mansfield's negotiations evidently did not suit his colleagues. It was learned yesterday that they had directed a survey made to route the boulevard around the water company. County engineers reported the project was feasible. Barr said he will bring the matter up at the next Commissioners' meeting.

SLEUTH SCANS PRISONERS IN ALIEN DRIVE

Murray W. Garsson, special assistant to Secretary of Labor William Doak, today launched a determined drive on aliens and naturalized citizens engaged in rackets in the Pittsburgh district, by examining all prisoners at police headquarters and attending the "stand up" of suspicious characters at detective headquarters.

Garsson's investigations here are part of a nation-wide campaign started a year ago by Secretary Doak against undesirable foreigners. The government sleuth will visit all police stations in Pittsburgh and will personally supervise the investigations here during the next 70 days.

DRIVE ON RACKETEERS

The drive is to be made against racketeers of all descriptions, according to Garsson, who personally directed drives in New York, Chicago and other cities. He arrived here yesterday, and at a conference with W. H. Marshall, director of immigration, Department of Labor, in the Pittsburgh district, mapped out his course of procedure.

Starting the drive here so soon after the murders of the three Volpe brothers and John Bazzano was considered significant by some persons familiar with "rackets" here, but according to Garsson, this city already was on the program for a "clean-up." The number of investigators he brought to Pittsburgh, known as the special intelligence unit of the Department of Labor, was not disclosed, but it was unofficially reported as 25 men.

WORK IN MANY CITIES

According to Garsson, the drive in Chicago resulted in deportation proceedings being instituted against 220 who were on the city's "public enemy" list.

Campaigns have also been made in Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit, Youngstown and Reading.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"
THE DARK AND BLOODY GROUND
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by N. C. Wyeth, noted painter of the American Indian . . . inspired by the fierce cruelty of the savages whose knives and tomahawks caused the story of the Pioneer West to be written in blood.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

WATER CONCERN SHOWS BIG PROFITS

The South Pittsburgh Water Company, which has been asked by Public Service Commissioners to submit reduced rates by September 15, has come close to doubling its net income in six years, according to the company's own financial reports.

In 1926 the company reported a net income of $316,538 and this has been increased every year. Last year it amounted to $623,830.

So steady has been the growth of the company that the business depression has had little or no effect on its gross earnings. The gross has increased steadily from 1926 to 1930 and in 1931 was only $880 less than the high point of the previous year.

40,620 CONSUMERS

The company serves 40,620 consumers in nine wards of Pittsburgh and 11 townships in the South Hills. In six years it has increased its number of customers 31 per cent, serving as it does one of the fastest growing areas in the Pittsburgh district.

For years the company has vigorously and successfully resisted community efforts toward rate reduction. A rate case before the Public Service Commission in 1929 joined in by the city and a number of boroughs got a few trifling reductions in service charges and in meter rates on large quantities.

The first step in the company's present meter rates is 33 cents per thousand for the first 12,000 gallons per quarter, and 40 cents for the next 288,000 gallons compared with the city rate of 20 cents per thousand for the first 250,000 gallons.

This does not include the service charge which in the case of the company amounts to $2 a quarter on the small home owner and in the case of the city 50 cents a quarter on similar properties.

CITY PAYS DIFFERENCE

Where service is rendered by the company inside the city, the difference between the city and the company rate is paid by the city according to an existing agreement. Not only that but the city is responsible for collections and pays the entire amount billed to the water company, regardless of whether the consumer pays or not.

As a result, the company is placed in the enviable position of having a large part of its collections guaranteed. Through the difference in rates the city has been paying the South Pittsburgh Water Company aproximately $260,000 a year more than it collects, in addition to tying up a good portion of city funds in slow collections.

The common stock of the South Pittsburgh Water Company is almost entirely owned by the American Water Works and Electric Company.

The income account of the South Pittsburgh Water Company shows that it has reduced its operating expenses through efficient management. The value given to its plant and property last year was $11,707,109.

7 LOSE HOME IN $10,000 FIRE

Four generations of one family today were without home, clothing or furniture, following a $10,000 fire which destroyed the nine-room house of David R. Toy, Lincoln avenue extension.

An oil water heater in an outhouse, where Mrs. Toy was working, was blamed for the fire. Spreading to the two-and-one-half-story building, the blaze resisted firemen for four hours.

Lack of water forced firemen to stretch hose for more than a mile before headway could be made against the flames.

The homeless were Ambrose Ryan, 85, his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David R. Toy, his grandson and granddaughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Toy and his great-granddaughters, Virginia May Toy, 7, and Olive Toy, 3 months.

Lincoln Park fire company's hose wagon arrived on the scene first, followed by the Thadeus Stevens, Rosedale and Point Breeze companies. David R. Toy said:

"The Lincoln Park firemen got here quick enough, all right, but they didn't have any equipment to fight the fire. They were unprepared for chemical methods and there wasn't any water for more than a mile. I figure the loss at least $10,000."

CITY EMPLOYES PAINT SPAN

City employes have been put to work painting the Manchester Bridge with a resultant estimated saving to the city of $13,000, as compared with contract work.

Director Edward G. Lang has assigned a force of men from the Department of Public Works to the job. The cost of city labor and material is estimated at $19,000 as compared with $32,000, the contract price of the last repainting.

Director Lang said:

"Experience with contract painting has been generally unsatisfactory. Under severe competitive conditions of contract work it has been found that the cost of inspection necessary to get passable work has been excessive and that inferior results were obtained."

HOT WEATHER HEAVES ROAD

Sections of the brick paving in the west-bound lane of the Ardmore boulevard, near the Wilkinsburg line, are being replaced by the State Highway Department.

Expansion of the brick surface in the recent hot weather has heaved it up at the joints. This flaw in the pavement, according to A. R. Krepps, highway department engineer, is not the fault of the contractor who put down the paving two years ago.

Specifications were followed, Krepps declared, and the concrete base of the roadway is in good condition. Some bituminous filler is being used in relaying the bricks and expansion joints are being spaced farther apart.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

The Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania is proud to announce the introduction of a new motor oil—Essolube. ★ This oil has been named Essolube because all tests prove it to be superior to any oil ever before produced, making it a fit companion in quality to Esso —"more powerful than any gasoline." ★ Essolube has been made commercially possible by hydrofining, Standard Oil's perfected method of producing motor oil by means of the famous hydrogenation process—which won the Nobel Prize for its creators. ★ Because Essolube is so superior to all other motor oils on the market, this company has decided to replace the widely known "Standard" Motor Oil with this new product. ★ We are also pleased to announce that Essolube will be sold at no extra cost to the motorist. ★ Essolube is now available at all stations and dealers of the following companies:

PIRATE-DODGER GAME OFF

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

LOSS OF WORTHINGTON RUINS BRAVES

THE LOSS OF the longest game of the year by the Braves to the Cubs yesterday after a battle of 19 innings, a result that increased Chicago's pennant lead to two full box scores while the Pirates were bowing to the Dodgers and slipping back again to within half a game of third place, showed how difficult it is for a ball club to get a break when misfortune has picked it out as a pet target. It marked a continuance of the run of adversity that has made Bill McKechnie the most unfortunate manager in the National League's great flag fight.

Bill McKechnie

The extent to which a club may be hurt by the loss of a single player is demonstrated by what has happened to the Braves since one of Bob Worthington's legs was broken in a game against the Pirates on August 7. Hitting the road a few days later, the Boston club was only three games below first place, but it has not won a victory on the trip, had dropped seven contests in a row, and has fallen to sixth position, seven games behind the leaders. McKechnie at best had only two .300 hitters, Worthington and Wally Berger, and the loss of one of them seemingly was a death blow to a club that was already the weakest hitting outfit in the league. Pennants cannot be won on defensive strength alone, and that's about all Bill has to make his fight with now. The unfortunate mishap to Worthington apparently killed the Wilkinsburg man's chance and set at naught the fine managerial work he had done all season.

THE GIANTS WILL follow the Dodgers at Forbes Field tomorrow for a series of six games, including two doubleheaders. So far New York has been the softest club in the league for Pittsburgh, the Pirates having won all of the last six meetings and 10 out of 13 games since the beginning of the season.

But it would be a mistake to take this as an indication of easier going for the Bucs than they have enjoyed since they grabbed six in a row from the Giants in New York last month. The New Yorkers, under the law of averages, may be due to make some trouble for the locals after losing 10 out of 13 to them, and besides are fighting with new spirit now with a view to making the strongest finish possible.

A QUEER TWIST in the National League schedule, with the playing off of a couple of postponed games, makes the Giant series one of the toughest of the year from another angle. After playing a doubleheader with New York Saturday, the Bucs must jump to Cincinnati for a single game on Sunday and jump back Sunday night for another doubleheader with the Giants on Monday.

That means five games in three days, with two nights on railroad trains thrown in. The Giants will have no advantage, as they must follow a similar program, jumping to Brooklyn with the Dodgers for a Sunday game. Sending a Western club to another Western town and two Eastern clubs back East for Sunday games during the progress of a West-East series in the West is not done often in modern schedule-making.

A FURTHER CUT of 25 per cent in the overhead of the major leagues for 1933 is predicted by Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club. He says this year's experience has made the magnates realize that they have been "financial fools," and that this is a good time to stop short and remedy the situation. Griff contends that the club owners have been overpaying the player, and pampering and coddling him to his own detriment. He cites, on his own club, the case of a young pitcher who has not done enough work to keep warm, but who, when asked to go to the Senators' farm at Chattanooga and help win a pennant that would be worth $30,000 to the Washington owners, sulked and asked how Griffith had managed to get waivers on him.

Clark Griffith

GRIFFITH WANTS IT understood that he is not in favor of going into a meeting next winter and passing a resolution that all players' salaries be reduced 25 per cent. He admits that would not be just. It's only the commonplace player he would cut heavily.

"It may be that some of our high-salaries men will deserve even better pay for 1933," adds the Washington magnate, who has spent 40 years in the majors as player, manager and executive. "I do not favor an unjust tax on superior ability. But I do believe we would sit down and figure it all out on the basis of receipts.

"WE HAVE BEEN sentimental fools. The commonplace player has been getting entirely too much out of us.

"Baseball is on the upgrade. We are sure to have a more prosperous season tn 1933. But the magnates should not continue to gamble on the forthcoming season. They should pay on the basis of results the last year."

THE OFFICIALS OF the Pittsburgh Hunt Club are to be thanked for bringing steeplechase racing to this city. Pittsburghers, that is the rank and file, have little or no chance of seeing spirited animals in such contests, and that there is a thrill in them no one will deny. It is announced that the August 27 program will not be the last, and that the meeting is to become an annual one late each summer, preceding the Western Pennsylvania Hunts meeting, which is staged at the Westmoreland Hunt Club, in Greensburg.

STEEPLECHASE RACING TAXES man and horse alike, and brings out the best in both. Not every one can throw a leg over a jumper and cover a three-mile course. It takes an experienced head and hand, and a rider, gentleman or professional, must be in the best of shape, not too heavy for his mount. He must have a keen eye, a firm hand, a good seat and must be a good judge of distance.

The horse, too, must be in prime shape. Jumping 17 hurdles, as the horses will do at the Pittsburgh Hunt meeting, is no soft job. There is always the danger of a fall, with other horses coming from behind. The rider must be alert and crawl back toward the jump should his mount fail to negotiate the barrier.

HORSES TRAINED FOR such competition must be sure-footed, approach the jump at the right speed, ready to take off, and be prepared to get from under in event of a spill.

Max Schmeling

Winning counts most with the riders, rather than the purse. Cups are sought with as keen spirit as purses, though the latter are essential, inasmuch as owners go to heavy expense to keep up stables. As is the case with anything else, "money makes the mare go" in steeplechasing.

THREE WEEKS OF training is the plan of Max Schmeling for his 15-round fight with Mickey Walker in Long Island City on September 19. Leaving Germany on the Bremen next Sunday, Schmeling will arrive on August 26 and start training three days later. The clinching of the Schmeling-Walker match may cause a change in the remainder of the summer fistic program for the Long Island Bowl. Jimmy Johnston had planned to stage at least three shows on late August and early September dates—one between Tony Canzoneri and Kid Chocolate, another between Jimmy McLarnin and Benny Leonard, and a third between Ernie Schaaf and Isadoro Gastanaga. But as manager of Schmeling, Joe Jacobs is demanding that a couple of the proposed shows be canceled, arguing that the decks should be cleared a month in advance to assure that Schmeling and Walker will get the biggest play possible.

ST. CLAIR WINS IN AMATEUR TOURNEY

By TOM BIRKS

The playing of an extra hole was required to determine the winner in three matches and two other duels were decided on the eighteenth green as thrill followed thrill in the first round of match play in the annual Western Pennsylvania amateur golf championship tournament at the South Hills country Club today.

In battles of links giants, Denny St. Clair, of the Indiana Country Club, defending champion and medalist, had to stage a rally on the in nine to nose out Sidney Carson, Jr., of Greensburg, 1 up, and Ray Babcock, Oakmont ace, traveled an extra hole to eliminate Fred Brand, Jr., of Penn State and Shannopin.

ST. CLAIR RALLIES

St. Clair was 1 down to Carson as they rounded the turn, but the champion shot a 36, one over par, on the homeward journey to overtake his rival and bag the decision. The cards:

St. Clair—
Out	4	6	5	2	5	4	4	4	5	—39
In	4	3	4	4	4	5	5	5	4	—36—75
Carson—
Out	4	5	4	3	5	5	3	4	5	—38
In	5	4	4	5	3	4	4	5	4	—38—76

Babcock, trailing Brand at the turn, also carded a 36 on the in nine, to even the match, and then bagged a par 4 on the nineteenth. Brand missed the green with his second on the extra hole. The cards:

Babcock—
Out	5	5	5	2	5	4	4	4	5	—39
In	5	4	3	4	4	4	5	5	4	—36—75
Brand—

In	6	5	3	4	4	3	5	5	4	—39—76

Extra hole—Babcock 4, Brand 5.

REGIS WOLFE BEATEN

In the other extra-hole contests Billy Marks, of Oakmont, defeated Tom Jamison, Greensburg, 1 up, 19 holes, and Dick Boucek, Highland, downed Regis Wolfe, Highland, 1 up, 19 holes.

Herb Miller, of Aliquippa, defeated Knox M. Young, Jr., of Highland, 1 up, on the eighteenth green, and another Highlander passed out of the picture when G. M. Trainor, of New Castle, eliminated Dr G. Stanger, 2 and 1.

Maurice (Ski) LeBosquet, former champion, gave the Highland title hopes a boost by shooting brilliant golf against Bruce Miller, of St. Clair, and winning, 7 and 6. John Graham kept the home club in the running by defeating George Flynn, of Oakmont, 4 and 3.

Second round matches are being played this afternoon.

At North Park, the inter-park championship will get under way today. Mike Evans and Steve Schacoski will battle it out over 18 holes for the title, and the squads representing each park

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: UTAH'S NATURAL WONDER—The Rainbow Natural Bridge, one of the great natural wonders of the world, is located north of the Arizona-Utah state line, and spans a canyon through which runs a small stream called Bridge Creek. Formed of a salmon-pink sandstone, it surpasses in size and symmetry any other natural bridge known. It is high enough to span the dome of the Capitol in Washington. The Indians called it "Rainbow Turned to Stone," hence its present name. It was proclaimed a National Monument in 1910.

LOCAL WOMAN NETTER WINS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Favorites advanced in yesterday's play in the National Public Parks tournament at Shawnee Park.

All matches were completed except three in the men's doubles, which were stopped by heavy rain.

In the women's singles play, two of the five matches required extra sets. Mrs. Jean Artzberger, Pittsburgh, defeated Irene David, Cleveland, in one of them, while Mrs. Andree Russell, of Cleveland, gained a victory over Constance O'Donovan, Detroit, in the other.

Sixteen players remain in the men's singles tournament scheduled to be resumed today, while play in the women's singles and doubles has reached the semi-final bracket.

Harmsworth Trophy Race Dates Changed

DETROIT, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—The first heat of the Harmsworth trophy race will be run September 3, instead of September 2, over the new Lake St. Clair course in order to accommodate persons whose work would not permit them to watch the race on Friday.

The second heat will be Monday, September 5, and the third, if necessary, September 6.

The change, announced by W. D. Edenburn, chairman of the race committee, was proposed by Gar Wood, American defender. It was approved by Kaye Don, British challenger, by telephone from New York.

BENDER RELEASED

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Charles Albert (Chief) Bender, one-time star pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, has been released as manager of the Erie club, of the Central League. Bender will be succeeded by Bill McCorry, former pilot of the Albany team in the Eastern League. He will join the Erie squad today at Fort Wayne.

Washington Retains Typo League Title

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 18—(AP.)—For the ninth time in 11 years, Washington, D. C., today was champion of the Union Printers International Baseball League.

Washington won the title for the second consecutive year by defeating New York, 11 to 8, in the final game here yesterday, after triumphing in a semi-final game with Cincinnati, 7 to 4.

By its victory, Washington won the Garry Herrmann trophy, which was donated by the late owner of the Cincinnati National League team.

Detroit was awarded the 1933 tournament.

HAMBLETONIAN WIN THRILLS

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Will Caton spent 27 years in Russia driving the greatest of European trotters to victory, but he returned to America to receive his greatest thrill.

Winners of 2,342 races on the European continent, including the Grand Prix at Paris in 1901 and eight derbies, Caton, gray from 40 years on the sulky, got his biggest kick yesterday when he piloted Mrs. Ralph Keeler's The Marchioness to victory in the richest of all harness racing stakes—The Hambletonian.

The 55-year-old auburn driver boasts of one of the greatest winning records in history. He has scored with the horses of the former Czar of Russia.

Caton, a son of a horse-loving father, attracted the attention of Grand Duke Nicholas at the Chicago World's Fair in 1892, when, as a lad only 16 years old, he won two races. He was immediately offered a chance to go to Russia, where his American style of driving met with popular aclaim.

As a member of the Walnut Hill consignment to the Old Glory sale in 1930, The Marchioness, a slim, unpromising filly, sold for $2,300. Yesterday's race alone returned her owner nearly $30,000. She won five of her eight starts as a juvenile and has finished first in three of her four starts this season.

Cleveland to See Olympic Stars

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Fifty Olympic stars, including Babe Didrikson, Paavo Nurmi, Bill Miller and Stella Walsh, will appear here Sunday in a track and field exhibit at which Cleveland's unemployed will be guests and all spectators admitted free.

The exhibitons will be climaxed by a 100-meter dash between Babe Didrikson and Stella Walsh, a Cleveland resident who ran for her native Poland at Los Angeles.

Carnera, Poreda Ref Draws Suspension

NEWARK, N. J. Aug. 18.—(AP.)—The decision which gave Stanley Poreda, of Jersey City, a victory over Primo Carnera in their fight here Tuesday night has aroused a tempest of no mean proportions in New Jersey boxing circles.

It seems that so few spectators saw eye to eye with Referee Joe Mangold, of Atlantic City, who awarded the decision to Poreda, that George E. Keenen, New Jersey's boxing commissioner ordered the suspension of the official until all the whys and wherefores could be investigated.

RAIN PREVENTS FINAL CLASH OF SERIES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Wet grounds caused a cancelation of Pirate-Dodger diamond contest scheduled for this afternoon at Forbes Field. The Clans of Gibson and Carey were slated to clash in their final Forbes Field contest of the year, but the showers falling shortly after midday brought the "No-Game" decision.

The postponed game of today is likely to be transferred to Brooklyn. The Buccos are due for a short stay in the Flatbush early in September and it is probable it will be staged at that time.

The New York Giants aer due to open a six-game series at Forbes Field tomorrow. Doubleheaders between the Buccos and Giants are carded for Saturday and Monday.

The thirteenth lefthander in 17 Pittsburgh battles was on the mound against the home team yesterday as the Bucs folded up in defeat before the Dodgers. Fred Heimach is a good lefthander who also carries a punch at the plate, but any southpaw can lob the ball up, it seems, and fool a lot of Pittsburgh batters. They made only six hits off Heimach in almost eight rounds and, as a result, a lot of batting averages fell below par. The score was 4-1.

MAKE SMART MOVE

Catcher Al Lopez, Pitcher Heimach and Manager Carey engineered a championship play in the heated eighth. The Buccos had the tieing run on the sacks with two out as Heimach began to pitch to Traynor. Fred threw one strike over to Pie and then showed sure signs of weakening.

Lopez noted the lapse in the hard-working pitcher, went out to him and the following dialogue took place:

"What's wrong, Fred?"

"Gee, Al, I'm about all in. I have perspired so much I am weak."

And Lopez flashed a sign to Manager Carey. Scoops had Ace Mungo all warmed up, and Mungo didn't do a thing in the inning but fan Pie Traynor with the bases loaded. Traynor was so badly bewildered by a curve ball on the outside corner he looked at it for a third strike. In the first half of the inning Heimach singled to start a drive that netted three runs, and when Pie fanned, the game was as good as over.

WIN IN EIGHTH

Swift pitched great ball against the Dodgers until the eighth round. Heimach started the eighth with a single, and Dan Taylor, after failing in a bunt attempt, doubled to right, the pitcher taking third. Joe Stripp weighed in with a single, scoring his two mates, and O'Doul also singled, Stripp taking third. Joe scored on Wilson's fly.

CHILLYSAUCE

The Cubs may or may not win the flag, yet they have given the home fans some thrills in the past two days the like of which are seldom equaled in any game, including a World Series encounter. The Bruins feat of yesterday should have a far-reaching effect on the flag race in favor of Charley Grimm's fighters.

The Pittsburgh setback while the Cubs were winning their classic with the Braves threw the Pirates two full games below the Bears. The sad feature of the Pittsburgh situation is noted in the punch of the club. The Pittsburgh pitchers are working fine ball games, but the enemy lefthanders have made a sorry mess of us.

Fifteen defeats in 17 battles should lead to the conclusion that the time had arrived for drastic changes. Grace, Vaughn and Suhr are plainly bewildered by the southpaws who have cut deeply into the

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—If Babe Ruth can pick an all-star team, my spectacles are as good as his to look through. I will therefore nominate my 1932 all-star team and hope it gets elected.

Nick Altrock

For the outfield I name Bing Crosby, Rudy Vallee and Russ Colombo. Not that those boys can play baseball, but they would bring up the attendance on Ladies' Day.

For first base I choose Al Capone. I name Al so Atlanta will release him to play on my team. For second base and shortstop I pick the Siamese twins because they will be close together for double plays. I am using Borah at third because he's promised to appoint my uncle the fourth-class postmaster at East Burlap, Idaho.

For catcher I select Aimee McPherson Hutton to watch over the plate, and if I can get that gang all together I will pitch myself.

VINES GAINS SEMI-FINALS IN NEWPORT TENNIS

CHAMP DOWNS VAN RYN IN CLOSE DUEL

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Ellsworth Vines, national champion and last year's winner, today gained the semi-final round in the Newport Casino tennis tourney by rushing from behind to overwhelm Johnny Van Ryn, his Davis Cup team mate, 2-6, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Wilmer Allison, another member of the Davis Cup forces, had to make an even greater stand to get into the semi-finals past Jiro Satok, of Japan. The latter played wonderful tennis to take the first two sets and then wilted badly. The score was 1-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

WOMEN TENNIS ACES ADVANCE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Women's tennis tournaments are noted for running true to form, and the National proved no exception yesterday as eight tried and true stars progressed to the quarter-finals at West Side Tennis Club.

In all except one instance, those whom the tournament fathers had figured would win, breezed right on through the third round, with the favored Helen Jacobs doing nothing to impair the belief that she will carry off the crown defaulted by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody.

One of the day's most impressive victories was scored by Carolin Babcock, of Los Angeles, who turned back Marjorie Leeming, of Canada, a highly regarded player, by scores of 6-0, 6-3.

Oh My Captures Butler Fair Race

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 18.—Oh My, a roan gelding owned by A. J. Lamb, of Ingram, grabbed the spotlight at the opening three-day program at the Butler fair and exposition yesterday when he paced the mile in the 2:25 pacing class in 2:10 and 2:10¾ to win two of the three heats of his race.

Spider Pladner Wins Over Newsboy Brown

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Emile (Spider) Pladner, French bantamweight, pounded out a 12-round decision over Newsboy Brown, of Los Angeles, in the main bout at the Forum last night.

In the semi-final, Panama Al Brown, world bantamweight champion, stopped Roland Lecuyer, of Holyoke, Mass., in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-rounder. Brown's title was not at stake.

BOOKS CLIMB NEAR TOP

Dormont saw its chances of annexing the second half pennant in the City League race fade somewhat last evening as the Book nine, first half champion, landed a 7-to-3 victory and took second place. The victory put the Books within a game and a half of the J. L. Thomas nine, second half leaders. Dormont won the title a year ago.

In a second league fray last evening, the Ferris nine nosed out the Geislers, 8 to 7.

In the County loop last evening, the Scott Morgans defeated Carnegie, 6 to 5. Homewood took the Murs, 4 to 0, in a non-league fray and the Iroquois team won over the Swissvale Firemen, 14 to 3.

The Crawfords ran into a whitewash brush at Corry yesterday, bowing to the Corry Merchants, 1 to 0. Corry was limited to a single hit by Kincannon, but the one safe blow, coming in the fourth inning, brought over the only run of the game.

Baseball, Football Topics of Seals

Baseball and football topics featured the weekly 25-minute broadcast of the Trained Seals of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph sports department over Station WCAE last night. Charles J. (Chilly) Doyle, baseball writer of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, interviewed Glenn Wright, Al Lopez and Tony Cuccinello, stars of the Brooklyn Dodgers, on various phases of the pennant race.

Paul Reider, captain-elect of the University of Pittsburgh varsity football team, discussed the prospects for a winning eleven this fall, also giving some interesting dope on the battles pending with Stanford and Notre Dame.

Tom Birks, Miss Marian Salmon, Julius Levin and Leland Becraft, WCAE announcer, also participated in the program.

By JAMES MILLER

With revenge the aim of one contestant and a match with a world champion the goal of the other, Wee Willie Davies, of Charleroi, and Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw, meet in the main bout of 10 rounds at Greenlee Field tonight.

Davies will strive to be the avenger, and will attempt to wipe out his one-round technical knockout defeat at the hands of Butch last winter at Motor Square Garden, when the bout was stopped due to a bad cut in Willie's mouth. Butch, on the other hand, will be out to duplicate his win over the upriver mite, and go on to a match with Al Brown, bantamweight champion.

In the eight-round semi-final, Nat Litfin, of the Hill, a hard-punching little fellow, draws a tough assignment in Jack Wilson, Negro, of Homewood, and will have to be at his best to win. Litfin, in his last showing here, lost a tough decision to Davies.

Joey Speigal, Uniontown welterweight, now fighting out of Frank Klaus' stable, meets Jacquette Everillo, formerly of Panama, but now of this city, in the second six-round bout. In his only other appearance here Everillo defeated Young Rudy in a good battle. Al Becker, of Sheraden, a good two-fisted belter, engages Jimmy Vaughn, of Johnstown, in the opening bout. The show will start at 8:45, daylight saving time.

Between Rounds

Prod. Bunny Buntack, manager of George Panka, the Clements boys, and now pilot of Joe Marcus, of Seattle, Wash., who is now registering out of Braddock, says the four boys whom he has fighting at Rickey Park, Millvale, Monday night are in great shape and should come out of the battles with contracts for future bouts. He predicts Panka will defeat Frank Novak for the city heavyweight championship; picks Marcus to win over Patsy Hennigan in the six-round semi-final, and figures Lloyd Clements has a good chance of stopping Ray Jennings in the second bout, and that Jerry Clements will take the measure of Al Farrone in the opening number. That's quite an order.

Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, who has fought some interesting battles around these parts, is eager to get started again. His manager, Bill Simendinger, is willing to take any of the local lightweights for his man.

Benny Leonard, former world lightweight champion, now doing a comeback, agreed to terms to fight Jimmy McLarnin in a 10-round bout at the Madison Square Garden Bowl, Long Island, October 3, and will sign the contract in a few days.

Buddy McArthur, of McKeesport and Fairmont, W. Va., was forced to call off his bout with Martin Levandowski at Saginaw, Mich., scheduled for Monday night, due to a broken right hand received in a bout at Fairmont last week. He will be out for six weeks.

LOCAL COLLEGE NETTERS WIN AT WHEELING

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN
Staff Correspondent

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 18.—Three Pittsburgh stars — Billy O'Loughlin, P. A. A.; Eddie Alcorn, Pitt captain, and Andy Smeaton, ex-Duke varsity leader—toe the mark in quarter-final men's singles tilting of the second annual Wheeling Park invitation tennis tourney here today.

O'Loughlin and Smeaton tangle in lower half feature fray, while Alcorn encounters Ralph Minnich, of Lorain, in an upper sector contest.

Other bracket-of-eight debates involve Stump Friedrichs, husky home luminary, with Jim Allen, of Elkins, and Bill Abrams, Wheeling contender and first seeded combatant, against Jimmy Taylor, of W. & J.

Meanwhile two Pittsburgers fell by the highway, Bob Lampus, of Shannopin, dropping 6-2, 6-2, decision to Allen, and Paul Sullivan, Winged Head performer, going under before the Abrams' barrier attack, 6-4, 6-4.

Friedrichs eliminated Skib Front, Michigan Un player, 6-4, 6-2. Taylor cared for Merlin Dubois, Moundsville stylist, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

O'Loughlin and Sullivan, Western Maryland finalists last week, remain lone Steel City hope in men's doubles, the Winged Headers downed Kellmeyer and Beltz, 6-1, 6-2.

90-Year 'Young' Horseman to Race Today

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., Aug. 18.—(AP.)—An old man today will drink from the well of youth and live again the hours of his budding manhood.

Stephen (Uncle Steve) Phillips, of Lebanon, O., 90-years-young, as he puts it, will pilot his own trotter, Frederick McKinney, 2:03¾, in a handicap race, the feature event of the Fayette County Fair program.

Fore more than 75 years Uncle Steve owned, trained and raced horses. Recently at North Randall he drove Frederick McKinney a mile in 2:05, a fast pace for the best of drivers at any time.

Joe Shaute, one of Scoop Carey's left-handers, had not pitched a full ball game this year until he tackled the Pirates on Monday, according to scribes in the Brooklyn entourage. Shaute has proved a big aid to Carey in relief roles, but the fact that he can finish against the Pirates is just another proof of the inability of the Pirates to hit the lefties.

Pirate fans were deeply disappointed in the home attack of the eighth. Comorosky batted for Swift and singled to start the inning. L. Waner also had a single in his bout, but the preponderance of lefthand batters militated against the team. Vaughn and P. Waner were easy out and Mungo arrived in time to fan Traynor.

Every successful team in baseball plays the percentage on the style of the pitchers. When Bill McKechnie threw Hub Pruett into the nineteenth round of the long battle in Chicago for the purpose of pitching to Johnny Moore, a lefthand batter, Manager Grimm yanked Moore and inserted Demaree, a righthand hitter, who won the game.

Do you want the new gasoline that cuts motoring costs to the marrow... giving you more and sweeter power and mileage?

Question:

Do you want the only regular price gasoline that has ever proved its high anti-knock rating. its genuine premium quality... by actual sound tests on the road?

Answer!

(already voiced by hundreds of thousands of motorists)

"Aye! Aye! we'll tell the world we want the New TYDOL."

Electric Ear PROVES THE NEW TYDOL

Western Electric engineers attest winning anti-knock quality of the New TYDOL. Using the Electric Ear, a microphone placed next to the engine, they picked up every ping and pound in 17 gasolines, analyzed and recorded them in 3-day road test.

DECIBEL KNOCK CHART

MARKET PRICE MOVEMENT NARROW

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—The stock market backed and filled listlessly today, as traders were inclined to withhold judgment on the immediate outlook, pending more convincing evidence as to the market's position.

There was a mild rally in the morning, which carried a number of utilities and rails up a point or two, but these advances were replaced by losses of similar extent in a midday sag. By the fourth hour, there had been some recovery, but it lacked vitality.

Westinghouse, American Can and American Telephone registered losses of about 2 points, and Case got down 3, before meetings support. Issues off a point or so from the previous close included United States Steel, Standard of New Jersey, New York Central, Loew's and Du Pont. In the main, the rails held up fairly well. The morning advance carried such issues as Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Columbia Gas, Electric Power and Light, General Electric and Johns Manville, temporarily one to two points higher.

The day's news failed to bring the market anything in the way of important stimulus in either direction, and with a widespread feeling that more convincing signs of autumn business recovery might be needed to justify a further broad advance, buyers were inclined to caution. Brokerage opinion remained predominantly bullish on the market, considered over a period of several weeks, but opinion as to immediate trend was confused.

Commodity markets were still being closely watched. Rising prices for raw materials were felt in the retail markets during July, according to Fairchild's Index, which showed that the decline in prices of goods to the consumer slackened considerably, amounting to 1.5 per cent, compared to 2.3 per cent in June. The slump in both wholesale and retail prices during the first six months was an important factor in the adverse earnings statements reported by many companies. Sears-Roebuck, for instance, reported a loss after all charges of $2,893,734 in the 26 weeks ended July 16, most of which reflected the writedown of inventories. A check to the decline might permit many companies to show profits, according to Wall street bankers, while an actual upturn would obviously be highly beneficial. It was the increase in prices in the oil industry which brought a number of prominent companies in that group out of the red in the first half.

Wall street looked for the weekly bank statements, to be published tomorrow, to make a favorable showing. The Bank of England's statement, out today, showed its reserve ratio up to 36.2 per cent, against 33.3 a week previously. This was largely due to a decrease in circulation, but there was also a small gain in gold.

BONDS WEAKEN IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—The upward movement in stocks on the Berlin Boerse continued with A. E. G. Siemens and Halske and I. G. Farben being conspicuous favorites, but bonds were weak because it is rumored that the government's financial program contains a compulsory loan for public works, or further interest reduction for mortgages and bonds.

Reduction in interest on domestic bonds is still opposed severely by the Reichsbank and other influential circles because such a move would probably be followed by reduction of interest on foreign bonds.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Sears, Roebuck & Co. report for the seven 4-week periods ended July 16, last, loss of $2,893,734 after all charges. This compares with profit of $6,908,483 before federal taxes, but after depreciation, etc., and extraordinary contribution of $259,000 to unemployment relief in the like 1931 period. Sales for the four weeks ended July 16 totaled $17,258,862, against $23,769,479 in the same period last year. For the 32 weeks to July 16 sales were $162,846,230, compared with $208,476,686 in the corresponding 1931 period.

Reading Company for the six months ended June 30 had net income of $938,102, equal after dividend requirements on the 4 per cent first preferred stock, to 46 cents a share on the second preferred stock. This compares with $365,481 or 65 cents a share on the first preferred stock in the first half of 1931.

Ludlum Steel Company reports net loss for the six months ended June 30 of $140,251, in contrast to a net profit of $23,488 in the first half of 1931. For the second quarter of this year alone, the net loss was $89,330, against a net profit of $7,150 in the second quarter of last year.

Porto Rican-American Tobacco Company reports for the June quarter net loss of $26,114 after all charges, against net loss of $48,834 in the March quarter. Six months net loss totals $66,948, against net profit of $101,035 in the first half of 1931.

Cities Service Co. July surplus amounted to $549,854 after all charges and preferred dividends, but before common dividends and reserves, against surplus of $621,618 in July, 1931. Twelve months surplus totals $15,445,530, compared to $23,965,029 in 12 months ended July 31, 1931.

International Nickel Company reports for the June quarter net loss of $629,327 after all charges, compared with net profit of $1,700,249 in the June quarter, 1931. For six months to June 30, net loss amounted to $98,255 against net profit of $3,359,886 in first half of 1931.

Foundation Company reports for six months ended June 30 net loss after general expenses of $66,997, compared with net loss of $235,022 in the first half of 1931. June quarter net loss was $20,709 after expenses, etc., against net loss of $82,893 in the June quarter, 1931.

TAX ON SALES SUCCESSFUL IN WEST VA.

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The new and successful initial experience of the state of Mississippi with the consumers' sales tax has arrested the attention of the country, which at this time is unusually tax-conscious.

West Virginia has derived substantial revenues from a sales tax—a gross sales tax—ever since 1921. The law was amended in 1925 by changing the rates on different classes and by exempting professions and sales not carried on for profit.

Mr. Rukeyser

Though fluctuating in proceeds with general business conditions, the yield has not been as adversely affected by the depression as taxes based on profits, rather than on sales. Net collection of West Virginia's gross sales tax decreased from $3,065,010 during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1931, to $2,327,710 in the fiscal year ended June 30, last. General economic conditions accounted for the decreases, according to T. C. Townsend, state tax commissioner.

RATES MODERATE

By switching in 1921 from a tax based on net income to one based on gross sales, the state greatly increased its income from that source. Collections from this new tax during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, totaled $3,055,976, more than three times the $912,689 received from the excise tax on corporations during the tax year 1919-20.

The rates per $100 under the existing law are extremely moderate, as revealed by the subjoined samples:

Coal, 42 cents; wholesalers, 5 cents; banks, 30 cents; steam railroads and pipe lines, $1; telephone, telegraph, express, electric light and power companies, 60 cents; street railroads and other public utilities, 40 cents; contracting business, 30 cents; amusement business, $1, and all other businesses, 30 cents.

CHIEF REVENUE

Since the tax was enacted, the state has collected $33,572,279. Revenue from the gross sales tax is the chief source of income for the state, and local observers report that, in the opinion of state officials, it has been a distinct success. Talk of substituting an income tax has been ineffectual, and has made little headway among the legislators.

The cost of collecting the tax has declined from $56,720, the first year, to a low of $43,574 in the 1930 tax year.

The state requires quarterly and annual reports of sales from all enterprises subject to the tax and allows an exemption on the first $10,000 of sales.

Contributions to the tax total have been made as follows by various economic groups:

Coal, 30.07 per cent; oil and gas, 11.77 per cent; clay and sand, .83 per cent; timber, .44 per cent; manufacturing, 23.64 per cent; retail sales, 16.53 per cent; wholesale sales, 2.16 per cent; banks and public utilities, 7.87 per cent, and other business, 6.69 per cent.

COLLECTIONS LISTED

The collections in the last two years were as follows:

	1931	1932
Coal production	$ 753,185.60	$ 544,930.47
Clay and sand	26,746.23	16,700.32
Oil and gas	391,150.98	311,296.67
Timber	19,225.26	10,950.55
Total from extractive industries	$1,190,308.07	$ 883,878.02
Manufacturing	667,483.36	504,461.91
Retail	466,488.53	367,140.78
Wholesale	68,682.29	54,291.87
Banks and public utilities	239,275.93	283,444.96
All other businesses	332,772.03	234,493.27

The arguments against the sales tax are largely academic and theoretical. The tax has been productive of revenue, and has been cheerfully collected virtually wherever it has been tried.

Acceptance Volume Declined in July

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The volume of bankers acceptances outstanding declined $42,601,770 in July to $704,646,592, the American Acceptance Council reported. Retirement of a large volume of matured acceptance credits and delayed demand for new season financing were responsible for the decrease. Acceptances outstanding on July 31, 1931, totaled $1,228,202,179.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Symington & Wilson, brokers, state that buying for United States account has continued steadily on the London Rubber Market, with local operators also evidencing a fair degree of interest.

WALL STREET HEARS

That the break-up value of Lehman Brothers Corporation common stock has advanced to around $59 a share, and that the company has taken some profits on stocks bought during the two past months.

That United Corporation common shares are officially estimated to have a liquidating value of around $9.50 a share.

That the stock market's short interest has been materially reduced in the first half of this month.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Overnight profit taking caused an extension of the reaction in curb stocks in the first hour today, but thereafter the market gained its footing for a further moderate climb. Trading was in moderate volume.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded on (all omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list).

PANTHERS CARD W.-J. FOR '33 GRID OPENER

By JESS CARVER

Wash-Jeff is going to be back on Pitt's football schedule next season, 1933, as the Panthers' opponent in the opening game.

Those wishing to get off the "How the mighty have fallen" crack will form in the line to the right.

No official announcement has been made relative to the restoring of W. & J. to the local program, but this correspondent has learend that the game is "in." Wash-Jeff has been off the Pitt card since 1929, when the Red and Black was defeated, 21-0, by the unbeaten Panther eleven of that vintage. Schedule irregularities in 1930 and '31 prevented the scheduling of the Presidents, though it always has been Athletic Director W. (Before the Don) Harrison's desire to include the ancient rivals on the card.

The listing of the Red and Black as an inaugural opponent means that Pitt is following in the footsteps of Notre Dame and doing away with early-season setups.

Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland, Pitt's head coach, now sojourning in Scotland, doubtless will greet the news with pleasure when once again he sets foot on United States soil. Yes, he will not.

The Tipoff

J. M. (Ducky) Holmes, former Nebraska backfield star and a well known local gridiron official, is back from putting in his annual hitch at Camp Hanging in his annual hitch at Camp Hancock, booking for the geezer who sent him a post card addressed as follows:

Capt. J. M. Holmes,
Care The Guard House,
Camp Hancock, Ga.

Eddie (Pony) Marlin, Greensburg citizen and about as easy a football scout as breaths, is mourning the departure from the coaching and scouting ranks of Dutch Hermann, of Penn State. Dutch and Eddie paired together for many years, scouting for State. They always could go back and tell Bez the size of the Pitt score almost to the touchdown.

All the coaches will sleep in Carl Hamilton's cottage at Pitt's football camp this fall, according to the good word from our illustrious brother sport publicity purveyor at Pitt. Get yourself 10 coaches or so in one cottage and you have something. Snoring will be in two-four time.

West View Sports Meet Saturday

A marathon race, track events for children and canoe and swimming races, in which members of the Pittsburgh Aquatic Club will be the leading contestants, will feature a sports meet to be staged at West View Park Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the West View relief fund. Fire companies will engage in competitions, and the Mur nine will meet Ingomar in a baseball game at 6 p. m.

Dr. Seitz Captures Two Oval Events

Dr. Seitz scored a double victory yesterday afternoon at the weekly meeting of the Schenley Matinee Club, piloting two horses to triumphs.

The Doctor scored first behind Goldie A in the second race of the day, a pacing event. He came back to win the fourth with Mildred Axworthy in the green class. Other wins yesterday were scored by Miss Neffco, with Robert Nicholson driving and Victor King, with Dave McDonald in the saddle.

NURMI TO RUN

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Karl A. Hill, of the Finnish-American Athletic League, today said Paavo Nurmi, famous Finnish distance runner, would perform at a local Olympic track meet in Worcester, Saturday, when several members of the Finnish Olympic team will run.

Blondie Is Amazed by News Of Larry's Engagement To Society Girl

CHAPTER XXI.

Blondie hesitated just long enough in front of Child's restaurant to buy an evening paper. Tucking it under her arm she pushed through the swinging doors into the bright lights. With a little smile she acknowledged the greeting of the cashier, and walked across the dining room to her favorite table in the far corner.

"Good evening," Miss McClune," said the waitress, handing her a menu. "Been warm today, hasn't it?"

"Yes . . . very," replied Blondie, as she studied the menu.

"Some friends of mine went to the Follies last night and saw your specialty number . . . They raved about it . . . Said you did those intricate steps so easy . . ."

"Thanks . . . they were very kind . . ."

"They said there must be some trick to it," the waitress interrupted. "But I told 'em how well I knew you and how hard you worked . . ."

Blonde looked up questionably, then gave her order quickly. As the waitress went toward the kitchen Blondie looked after her quizzically.

Well, after all, she was right, Blondie thought with a faint smile. Those were the people who knew Blondie McClune of the Follies best these days—waitresses, taxicab drivers, hotel clerks and bell boys.

WORKED HARD

For weeks now Blondie had done nothing but work, eat and sleep. Up in the morning and to the dancing teacher—into a practice suit, then dance, dance, dance, until noon. A shower and into Child's for a sandwich and the relaxation afforded by a hard chair. Then back to the practice suit and dance floor until late afternoon.

Cocktail time with its old parties found Blondie stretched out in her little hotel bedroom, dead tired, but a little happy because she had made some progress that day. Then came the show, which Blondie was taking very seriously and working hard in every number.

Tonight, as Blondie unfolded her newspaper and spread it out on the table, she was not quite so tired. Her specialty number, which she had worked so hard to perfect and talked so hard to get into the show, was going over. Some of the critics had even given it special mention in their columns. Then when the manager admitted it was good by giving her a raise Blondie knew her first happiness in a long time. That extra money every week meant more for the family and a few little luxuries for Blondie. Somewhat reluctantly she had indulged in one of them today—a taxicab ride through Central Park.

SURPRISING NEWS

Almost automatically Blondie ate her soup, reading the headlines of the paper propped up before her. Suddenly her eyes opened wide, a spoonful of soup half way between the bowl and her mouth.

"Prominent Broker to Wed. Larry Belmont sailing tonight for Europe. Will Marry Eileen Cabot, Boston debutante, in Paris."

It was a short story and Blondie read it avidly. The spoonful of soup never reached her mouth. She pushed the dish away and sat staring at the paper with unseeing eyes.

So Larry was going to be married . . . going away tonight . . . Europe. Blondie's mind was racing, her face flushed. Well, what of it? He deserved happiness . . . what would Lurline say now? Why Lurline . . . what about Blondie? As Blondie started to think of herself the old pain came, twisting at her heart. Oh, why hadn't she gone to Larry instead of battling it out alone? . . . told him she loved him . . . that she wanted to get away from the gay life just as much as he did . . . but there was Lurline . . . always Lurline. Well, it was too late now . . . too late.

Blondie just nibbled at the food the waitress brought. Dry sobs clutched at her throat. Even if it was too late for Larry, it was never too late for Pratt! Larry and Pratt! . . . two men . . . so alike and yet so different, Blondie thought . . . so different to her, anyway. Why hadn't she listened to Pratt and gone back? . . . Why hadn't she accepted that exquisite creation from Cartier's he had had made for her . . . why? Blondie asked herself now, but she knew . . . she knew why then, and she knew she would do the same thing again! It wasn't the life for her, but Larry . . . !

Blondie's mind was in a whirl as she asked for her check and hurried to the cashier's desk. She paid her bill and walked to the theater—thinking, thinking, thinking.

In the dressing room she noticed that the other girls were nearly dressed for the first number. She had spent more time over her dinner than she thought. Except for the briefest of greetings Blondie spoke to no one. She noticed that Lurline was in her place across the room, but she didn't attempt to talk to her. Conversation between the two girls had been extremely limited for some time, so no one noticed it.

MISSES LURLINE

Quickly Blondie undressed and slipped into her dressing gown. With swift and expert fingers she applied her makeup. Before the last girl had reached the great stage for the first number, Blondie was in her place, fully costumed.

The opening number completed, Blondie was stopped by the head electrician, who told her of some new lighting effects that had been ordered for her specialty dance. Blondie listened, almost without hearing, then hurried to the dressing room to change.

Girls in various stages of undress were sitting before shining mirrors clustered with electric light bulbs. Blondie went directly to her table, then looked over to Lurline. Her place was vacant.

Another girl spoke up. "Larry Belmont's over there."

"Oh, yes, he's leaving for Europe tonight," said the girl next to Blondie.

A third girl chimed in: "Lurline will be fired sure—that speak's out of bounds now."

"Nothing could stop her—she's stuck on that Larry!" piped up the first girl.

At that all the girls looked at Blondie, anticipating some reaction. But Blondie was changing hurriedly, covering her nervousness, and never let on she had heard.

Blondie's face would have been ghastly then but for her makeup.

"Some society dame from Boston . . ." but before the answer was completed Blondie had changed and hurried over to the wardrobe lady.

She whispered: "I'm going over to the speakie for a moment—call me when it's time . . ." and she ran out, throwing a coat around her.

At the head of the stairs leading to the stage Blondie slipped through a door which opened on a fire escape. She went a short distance along this, then entered another door which led into an anteroom of the speakeasy.

Thousands of girls write to her, tell her their problems, ask her advice . . . Not only the old problems, ancient as there are generations of men and women, but the new problems the girl of today is confronted with. That is why Hazel Livingston, whose intensely human love story, "Valentine," beginning in the Sun-Telegraph next Monday, probably more than any woman novelist writing, makes her characters real living persons faced with the actual conditions of today. Get ready now to read the first big smashing installment next Monday in the Sun-Telegraph.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Peace Once Again Reigns at Farmhouse

The sun was shining when I awoke, and Lillian was gone.

I bathed and dressed rapidly, and went out into the corridor, knocking lightly at Lillian's door; but there was no response—she either had gone back to her bed and was too deep in slumber to hear my summons, or else she already was downstairs. I pinned my faith to the second hypothesis and went downstairs to find Lillian the sole occupant of the breakfast table.

"Hello, there!" She drew back a chair next hers. "I'll tell Katie to bring your things next me here, for I have much speech with thee."

"Where are all the others?" I asked.

"I trust they are all asleep," she said with a little smile. "At least they ought to be. All of them except your father were awake all night, a couple of hours here, and then a long automobile jaunt, turning those lads over to the immigration authorities in the city. They returned only an hour ago, and Hugh and Lee Chow dived for the bungalow, while Harry and Dicky fairly ran for their little white beds upstairs. Your father got up to receive them, but their report was as brief as the famous 'On again, off again, gone again, Finnegan.' But as nearly as I can gather, the Chinese menace is definitely and completely over, this poor lad in the library can be sent to a hospital, and we can resume a peaceful existance.

UNDERSTAND PLOT

"You forget," I said, "those men in the blue sedan who were so determined to obtain Marion's lock box."

"I said the Chinese menace," she repeated. "Those lads had nothing to do with the Chinese, you may be sure. And if you'll cast your memory back, those blue sedan lads sent word that as long as the box remained in the bank safety deposit box, they would not molest us. No, I think we all can sleep soundly for awhile."

"Until Marion is of age, at least," I said. "Of course, she'll want to open the box, then. Or—if she marries."

"If she marries," she repeated slowly. "Yes, that was her grandmother's stipulation. It was not to be opened—the packages in the secret drawer, I mean—until Marion was of age or on her wedding day—Madge!"—she caught at my arm excitedly—"I see it all now—don't you?—that's why Charles Owen is trying so hard to win her—he knows of something in that box that he wants, and that he knows he can get only by marriage. And—Madge!"—she was speaking slowly, dazedly now, as if feeling her way through a maze—"if he knows, it's because Sam Brixton told him. They're in a plot together to rob my baby—don't you see?"

AN OLD FRIEND

"I often have thought so," I said, "especially since you told me about Mr. Brixton and Marion's father being together in China during the Boxer troubles. But, of course, we cannot be sure."

"What shall I do?" she said tensely. "I feel as if I must snatch Marion up and run with her to the ends of the earth. I feel as though I could not have her breathing the same air with Ronald and Carolyn another minute. And here she is scheduled to go back to Whitney Hall with Carolyn!"

"Your perspective is woefully askew just now," I told her. "In the first place, Carolyn and Ronald haven't a drop of Brixton blood, as you very well know. And their mother is—was—your best friend."

"You'd better say 'was,'" she said with such prompt affection that my heart was suddenly warm. "She's only second, no third place now. You first, then Katrina, then Helena—that's my scale."

"Thank you; that's very flattering," I told her. "But to return to our little sheep. I believe going back to Whitney Hall is the very best possible step. All you have to do is to drop a hint in the ear of that wise head mistress of Whitney to the effect that Mr. Owen is not particularly acceptable to you, and he can pound his knuckles off on the doors of Whitney Hall, but he'll not see Marion."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Once more Mildred Rotthoff, known to the members of the Rowland Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club as "Midd," had complete charge of last week's meeting, assisted by little Betty Haslette, who acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The meeting was opened by "Midd" leading the members in the singing of "America," following which they all recited the club pledge.

The Komic Club Orchestra, which is rapidly reaching that peak of perfection for which the members have been striving for so long, played several popular numbers, including "Sweet Jenny Lee," "I Don't Know Why" and "Now's the Time to Fall in Love," and the members all joined in singing the choruses.

Members of the Rowland Chapter who had celebrated birthdays in the past week were then called to the stage, and while the members all sang "Happy Birthday," they were each presented with a small individual birthday cake.

INTRODUCES ACTS

Junior Stanley and Dolly Mae Vavrio offered as the first number on the program a dance entitled "The Brown Derby."

Genevieve Palumbo next "tapped" her way right into the hearts of the members and the grown-ups who attended the meeting.

Junior Stanley came back and sang "My Mom" and sang it very well. Junior has a good tenor voice and sings each week in the church choir.

After singing the chorus of "Sweet Jenny Lee," Doris Simmions executed a neat tap dance and finished by singing the second chorus of the song.

"Somebody Loves You" sang Dolly Mae Vavrio and Betty Haslette, the mistresses of ceremonies, and they concluded the stage part of the entertainment by singing "I Don't Know Why."

CLIP LUCKY BUCKS

If you can find a boy or girl under 16 years of age in the city of Pittsburgh or suburbs who is not clipping the Lucky Bucks now appearing every day in the Sun-Telegraph and in the comic weekly of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph, it will be safe to bet that he or she has just moved to Pittsburgh and doesn't know about Lucky Buck Day, Friday, August 26, at Kennywood Park.

On this day the rides and amusement devices of Kennywood Park will accept these Lucky Bucks as real money. All you'll have to do if you want to take a ride on the merry-go-round, whip, chair-o-plane, ferris wheel or any of the several other rides, will be to peel off 10 Lucky Bucks from your bankroll and buy a ticket. Yes, sir! Boys and girls, Lucky Bucks will be as good as gold at Kennywood on this day.

SMART BOY, ELMER!

(Platte City, Mo., Landmark)

Elmer Ross, who lives two miles east of Platte City, met with a peculiar accident Saturday. He was playing with a .22-caliber pistol when a fly lit on his knee, and not knowing it was loaded, Elmer took aim at the fly and fired away, the bullet striking his leg just above the kneecap. The fly escaped. Elmer had trimmed off nearly all the bullet and for this reason the wound is not a serious one.

Welcome, Legionnaires!

Pittsburgh Is Sincerely Glad of the Opportunity to Entertain the War Veterans.

In 1792, in preparation for a campaign against the Indians, United States troops were mobilized and trained at a camp on the right bank of the Ohio River about 19 miles below Pittsburgh. The army was known as the American Legion—it was so called in official dispatches—and the place of the encampment is known to this day as Legionville. Visiting Legionnaires might find it worth their while to visit the site, which is marked with tablets erected by historical and patriotic societies.

The name "American Legion" was known to Pittsburghers familiar with local history, and was respected by them, long before the World War. The honorable body of war veterans now bearing the name is respected and admired no less than that other American Legion that Pittsburgh knew 140 years ago.

The commander of the first American Legion was a gallant Pennsylvanian, Gen. Anthony Wayne, the victor at Stony Point, who was born at Easton, served in the Pennsylvania Legislature, and died at Erie.

From Wayne's day to this, Pennsylvanians have served the nation heroically in every war, and the civilian population has delighted to honor the soldiers and their organizations.

The Grand Army of the Republic, the Union Veterans' Legion, the United Spanish War Veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other societies of ex-service men have played a prominent part in Pittsburgh's life. All have been entertained here, all have drawn high officials from the ranks of their Pittsburgh members.

Pittsburgh accordingly has not the slightest feeling of bashfulness in welcoming the state convention of the American Legion. The Legionnaires will be accorded the treatment that is given to old and honored friends.

Stacking the Cards

The Outlook Is Not Bright for a Square Deal for the People in the Utilities Investigation.

Are the people of Pennsylvania to be swindled in the proposed investigation of crooked public utilities by a Senate committee?

Is the $100,000 of the taxpayers' money with which it is proposed to finance the investigation to be wasted?

It looks very much as if the Republican machine which controls the Senate had stacked the cards in favor of the crooked utilities.

It looks very much as if the people were not going to receive a square deal.

Otherwise why was the resolution of Senator Frank J. Harris, a fearless independent, calling for the inquiry, sidetracked in favor of that of Senator William S. Rial, an organization "lame duck," who has been repudiated by his constituents?

Is Rial to be chairman of the investigating committee instead of Harris because Rial's official connection with the state government terminates December 1, which may prevent a thorough inquiry?

The outlook for a square deal for the people is not bright because of the Senate's inclination to entrust the investigation to the same committee to whom Gov. Pinchot's charge that Chairman W. D. B. Ainey, of the Public Service Commission, accepted gifts from public utilities officials was referred. That committee showed no zeal to investigate the charge and was glad to find in Ainey's resignation an excuse for dropping the matter.

According to Lawrence C. Hickman, the Philadelphia attorney who represents A. A. Chapman, who furnished much of the evidence against Ainey, six of the Senators on the committee represent utilities companies. One of them, Senator Clarence Buckman, an attorney for the Reading Railroad, has had the decency to announce he will not serve.

The outlook for a square deal for the people is not bright because the Senate, instead of welcoming Gov. Pinchot's information about the corruption of the Public Service Commission by the public utilities, has shown resentment by accusing the Governor and talking of a "Lexow" investigation of his administration.

If there is anything suspicious in the administration it ought by all means to be investigated. But the Senate's action in replying to Pinchot's charges against the public utilities by accusing him looks very much like an indirect attempt to defend the utilities.

The utilities as well as the people are entitled to a square deal. If the utilities are investigated by a committee packed with their friends and hirelings, the people will not be deceived by a "whitewashing" report.

A "whitewash" will add strength to the demand for public ownership of the utilities.

The honest utilities should join in the people's demand for an honest investigation.

A Possible Solution

But the Allegheny River Boulevard Should Not Climb the Hill If It Can Be Avoided

Chairman C. C. McGovern, of the Board of County Commissioners suggests that the Allegheny River boulevard be constructed on the hillside above Nadine. Thus the difficulty of circumventing the Pennsylvania Water Company's plant, which stands directly in the way of the boulevard as originally planned, would be overcome.

The proposal to run the boulevard up on the hillside is feasible, engineers report, and would cost less than it would cost the county to run the boulevard through the water company property.

But the boulevard would not be so attractive if it should be diverted from the river.

It has been said that the damages demanded by the water company are extortionate. Why not fight the company in the courts before abandoning the original plan?

A Dangerous Kindness

Risk Is Taken in Giving Automobile Rides to Strangers Who Ask for a Lift.

It is hard for the normal decent man or woman to think that a person could be so vile as to rob a benefactor. Unhappily ingrates of such baseness do exist, as another case of highway robbery in Pittsburgh bears witness.

A Bellevue man driving an automobile was asked by a pedestrian, a middle-aged man, to give him a lift. He granted the request. While the car was passing through a sequestered place the stranger pointed a revolver at his benefactor and compelled him to give up his money.

The state highway authorities and the local motor clubs strongly advise against giving rides to strangers. They recommend that "thumbers" be ignored and "hitch-hikers" left to hike.

Such robberies as that mentioned, which is by no means a unique case, give point to the advice.

'Meddle In, Sam'!

(Copyright, 1932.)

According to our note-writing Secretary of State, every nation has not only the right to interfere in every controversy between nations anywhere but, he says, it is our SOLEMN DUTY TO INTERFERE.

Thus a new law of nations is born, IN THE MIND OF MR. STIMSON, the law of illegality, or MEDDLER'S LAW, or the Law of universal Interference.

How different from the wisdom of the Founders of the Republic, who established the traditional American foreign policy to stay clear of foreign imbroglios!

Meanwhile the Hoover Administration, more concerned with the woes of all other peoples on the globe than with the problems of pressing importance at home, continues to irritate foreign nations with its unasked for advice, while at the same time dismantling our national defenses, undermining the Army, scuttling the Navy and hamstringing the Air forces at a time when the importance of all, on a high plane of efficiency, INCREASES.

How Can New York Go to Hoover?

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

There is no accounting for New York politically; otherwise it would have given its electoral vote four years ago to the most popular man within the state, instead of giving it to a man from California of whom the Knickerbockers knew next to nothing.

The state was carried for Hoover by a campaign of misrepresentation in whispers. The small merchants who had always been with Smith in his gubernatorial campaigns, were told in whispers by agents sent to them individually that Smith would mean hard times and that Hoover would mean prosperity. They believed it. The vote in certain sections of the city shows that.

Then there was another whisper which proved effective. The liberals were assured that Mr. Hoover in his speech of acceptance had really taken the necessary step to rid the country of national prohibition. He was pictured as a wet who could be relied upon. "Leave it to Hoover," ran the whisper. And they did.

Sought to Bury Prohibition Issue

The deception practiced upon the liberals at that time has not been forgotten. It soon developed that Mr. Hoover was thoroughly aligned with the Anti-Saloon League. The first shock to the deceived liberals came when instead of appointing a distinct commission to investigate the operations of prohibition, Mr. Hoover merely put this down as one of the minor items on the agenda of the Wickersham Commission.

It was hoped in this way to bury the issue—to smother it.

The next shock came when the commission made its report. Most of the members reported adversely on prohibition. They signed their names to their individual reports. And this made all the more amazing the general statement of the findings which brazenly misrepresented the conclusions of a majority of the members. This was put in at the instance of Mr. Hoover.

He received the report and did nothing.

Mills Defeated Repeal Plank

The position of Mr. Hoover in the Republican convention on prohibition was the most conspicuous feature of an unusually drab and dull assembly. The New York Republicans in the convention were in favor of the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The delegates reflected the views of the great mass of Republican voters. They instructed their representative on the resolutions committee for a straight and honest repeal declaration.

This representative was Ogden Mills, who is Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Hoover.

In addition, he was the spokesman and the personal representative of Mr. Hoover in the convention.

And in this capacity he saw fit utterly to ignore the instructions of the New York delegation and to fight and use the whip against repeal.

There were 300 official retainers of Mr. Hoover in that convention and these were all arrayed militantly against repeal. The vote was so close that repeal would have won the day but for these retainers, acting under the whip of Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Hoover made his position so clear then that even the blind can see.

Such is his position now.

Roosevelt For Repeal

The Democrats in their convention came out four square for repeal and pledged themselves to the immediate modification of the Volstead act if entrusted with power by the people at the polls.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his speech of acceptance, accepted this position in the most emphatic manner and announced "From this hour the Eighteenth Amendment is doomed."

Thus there is no possible misunderstanding on the issue on prohibition between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt; and if the people of New York are for repeal and modification, and they are, and if they vote honestly and intelligently, Roosevelt will carry the state.

N. Y. Depends on World Trade

For years New York was considered safe for the Republicans because of the protective tariff—but it was a protective and not a prohibitive tariff.

The one reason why New York is the greatest city in the world, the mightiest in America, is because of her matchless harbor. The city has been built on foreign trade. It has been the transfer field for the imports and exports of a nation. Freight trains have entered and departed loaded—because of foreign trade.

Thousands of citizens have depended for business and a livelihood on the international exchange of goods. Thousands of offices in the city's skyscrapers have been occupied by men and women engaged directly and indirectly in this exchange.

Build an insurmountable barrier at the water's edge against foreign trade and the power and glory of the city would depart.

Trade Destroyed By G. O. P. Tariff

That has been done in the passage of the prohibitive Smoot-Hawley bill over the protest of economists and business men, and under the whip and spur of Mr. Hoover.

The effect has been to call forth the retaliation of other countries, to drive away the best foreign customers we ever had, to reduce the customs revenue by hundreds of millions and our foreign trade by billions.

The result is that the harbor once crowded with merchant ships from every quarter of the earth carrying away the products of our factories and fields is now lonesome. There is no more tragic picture than New York harbor today.

Parley Failed To Restore Trade

The Democrats in Congress, acting on a mandate from the people in 1930, passed a tariff act which called upon the President to enter into negotiations with other nations, individually and in international conference, to effect the restoration of the foreign trade which is the very life blood of New York, through reciprocal concessions.

It did not deal in rates.

It did not even strike at the protective principle.

It did strike at the prohibitive measure now on the statutes, written there on the demand of Joe Grundy and under the prodding of Mr. Hoover.

The Republican Senate passed the bill—and Hoover killed it with a veto.

Thus there is no hope for the restoration of foreign trade through the continuance of Mr. Hoover in power; and Mr. Roosevelt standing on his platform is pledged to immediate action.

Two Issues Vital To New York State

Thus this year there are two issues, either one of which should, with intelligent voting, place the electoral vote of the state in the Roosevelt column. There are others—many others. But one will search in vain for one single sound reason for New York to go to Mr. Hoover.

Amateur Wits

A few years ago, everybody was being SO "funny," SO bright and happy, that many a professional humorist longed to be transferred to the obituary column, just for a pleasant relief. Jokes and epigrams turned sour on the pen—and wisecracks dried up and fell apart before they reached paper.

Every collegiate cut-up was a scathing cynic and a ha-ha man, who thought he was failing his "public" unless he was putting over a canned wisecrack, a facetious answer or a little buffoonery.

There were all kinds of wits in those days. Water-wits, who were the life of the swimming-party, and yelped above the thunder of the waves as they ducked women and children and each other, or who threw each other, fully dressed, into the swimming-pool—Ha-ha!

My, my, MY! What a FUNNY world it was—before the Ides of 1929! And then came the suicide decade (no wonder!) and the jazz-boy went out like a light. The new Younger Generation takes itself positively Seriously—so seriously that its parents are almost scared of it. It is using its BRAINS—and it doesn't see much to be "funny" about.

But its fore-runners were funny about EVERYTHING. Love was a scream, marriage was a joke, ambition was hooey, poetry was blah, work was something to be dodged like a motor-car; and nothing was sacred, or sad, or serious—or even important.

And parlor-wits, who made nights hideous with their wild, wild laughter. And motor-car wits and speakeasy wits and night-club wits—and nit-wits!

There were clowns galore, and punsters, and wisecrackers, and practical jokers, and gay wags, and merry-andrews, and custard-pie wits, and cynics. But worst of all were the vinegar-wits—the masters of the retort DISCOURTEOUS.

You know the kind I mean. The sort of people who would rather be "funny" than well-bred, and who mistake incivility for humor, and rudeness for satire. The type who chuckles with self-complacency inside when he has embarrassed or hurt anybody with a "smart, snappy answer." Next to throwing custard-pies, the lowest form of it is the retort—discourteous. It's SO easy!

* * *

Ah, well; all these amateur-humorists have passed out of the picture, and the world has become a kindlier and a sweeter place. A sadder and wiser world! Real wit is probably the most devoutly appreciated and most highly paid thing in the world today. From Rochefoucauld to Bill Nye, from Thackerey to Winchell and Baer, from Moliere to Ed Wynn, the REAL WITS have brightened and gladdened the world.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A culling of help-wanted ads, in various metropolitan journals reveals desperate sidelights in the business of job hunting. There is a commendable humility about those once on high plateaus of life seeking a place in the lowlands.

This, for instance, from a staid morning paper: "I went from $25 a week to $26,000 a year. I lost my position because my corporation failed. I don't ask or expect $26,000 yearly now. I am glad to start at $25 a week again and give my employer my very best."

Another from a woman: "I have had no experience whatever in earning a living. My $9,000 income has shrunk to $750 annually. I have had results in social welfare charity work. I need a home and will work for my keep. If I cannot make myself useful in three weeks I'll step out."

Still another: "I am an honor graduate of a large Eastern college, and have driven an automobile more than 100,000 miles here and abroad. I will take a chauffeur job at $30 a week with no limit to hours, and I promise to be self-effacing and courteous at all times."

Perhaps the most unusual mixup in magazine shops occurred recently. Through a secretarial mistake, a famous writer sold the same story to two magazines—a weekly and a monthly. It appeared in the weekly while the monthly was on the press. The presses stopped and the story was removed at a $10,000 expense which the writer has naturally agreed to pay.

* * *

Dr. Hugo Reisenfeld tells of the symphony leader who needed a violinist in an emergency. One sent from an agency triumphed, yet critics spoke of the painful look on his face. The leader tried to find out the trouble, inquiring if he might be ill or what. Finally, he blurted: "O, I'm all right, I just hate music!"

A San Franciscan writes me his method of avoiding news shots of horses going over hurdles. He closes his eyes as they jump and opens them when he thinks they have had time to get up. If hurdle races are clean sport, so is bull fighting and beating old women.

My admiration for John N. Garner is keen, for I know, first hand, something of his fine early history. Yet I wish he would not smile in news pictures. It recalls my first experience with an unripe persimmon.

We used to try to make the novitiate with green persimmons, in the throes of a devastating pucker, say: "I'm sitting pretty." It would come out: "I'm prittin sitty."

Few native New Yorkers know the delicious taste of the ripened pawpaw. Back home, it was "the poor man's banana." Scorched black by the sun, the skin outside held the thick yellow custard with a zippy tang unlike any fruit I ever tasted. I have only come across the pawpaw once in the metropolis. This was in a rich and elderly bachelor's home—a nautilus, chambered with spiraling marble stairways, Gobelin tapestries and Corots. His dessert, after a Lucullan feast, was pawpaws on black plates flanged in gold. He explained it was a jungle delicacy from the Uganda, and the fibber got away with it.

Another succulent fruit, we used to find in forest glades of the creek hollows, was the mulberry. An elongated blackberry, it had a sweetish purple ooze that was heavenly. For hours afterward, one's tongue was like a Crow's. During carefully chaperoned picnics with the girls we picked mulberries, and it is about as much fun as anybody can have. On one of these innocent fiestas, I came home with a "measuring worm" acrawl on my coat collar, a superstition that a new suit was being made, grandma explained. Several weeks later, one came from a mail order house in Cincinnati as a birthday surprise. I always suspected it was grandma's trick. Since, I've had a secret respect for worms.

In Fifth avenue's promenade today, I saw a hatless fop tricked out not only in spats, monocle and white-noobed cane, but his hair had a platinum rinse. Awk!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Sometimes it's hard . . . waking up . . . facing a new day.

Old memories crowding round you, like ghosts that have been waiting for you to wake. Old wounds opening. If only you could turn back to the days that are gone. If only you could hear that lost voice again . . . see that dear face smiling at you . . . If only you could undo that terrible mistake . . .

But you can't. You can't. Always you must wake like this . . . wake to the same regret and loneliness . . . and rise, somehow, to face a new day which holds, for you, no hope or happiness.

But how can you do it? Where, in your broken heart and weary brain, lies the strength for it? And why should you do it? Why should you go on? Why make this useless, agonizing struggle? Why not fall back on the pillow—bury your head beneath the blankets—escape, again, into sleep . . . escape, perhaps, into a longer, deeper sleep?

Is that what you think, waking to the new day? Suppose I could lay my hand on yours and give you the answer—would it help? For I have felt that way, too—and I think I have found the answer.

First—why should you "face a new day"?

You are not facing a new day. You are facing a new self. You are not facing a tiresome period of 24 hours. You are facing the priceless and exciting progress of your own soul. And that adventure is worth any effort you may make for it. You, yourself are worth living for—no matter what that living costs.

And if you have to pay heavily for life, you will also profit according to the price you pay. If grief comes to you through loving, so does glory. If shame befalls you because you have blundered, you may yet feel proud because you dared to try. And the years ahead can hold just as much love and joy and pride and wonder as the years that have passed—IF YOU HAVE THE NERVE TO GO AFTER THEM.

That is WHY you should face a new day. And HOW shall you face it?

You do not have to "face a new day." You have only to face one moment at a time . . . make one gesture at a time. Small, mechanical gestures. Put your foot on the floor. Walk into the bathroom. Brush your teeth. Wash your face. Comb your hair. Start the coffee percolator. Put on your dress. Powder your nose. Start the toast. Pour out the milk. Smile. Say good morning to the family. Make some light, pleasant remark. Put a quiet, friendly hand on a worried shoulder. Sit down—

And so, on and on through the day. No matter how you feel—sad or mad or bewildered—that is all you need to do to live life bravely and beautifully and, in the end, abundantly. Just make the gestures.

For there is the whole secret of fine, human behavior, and of successful personal lives. We are still very much in the power of our old, savage selves. No one is brave clear through—or friendly or generous or gay or eager, clear through. We all want to crawl into holes to nurse our sadness or throw a tantrum to express our badness. But we've had a vision and we've invented some gestures—

We have had a vision of creatures who shall be taller and finer than savages. And we have invented gestures that are more beautiful and brave than savage gestures. Any one, even a nit wit, can make those gestures, no matter how he or she feels inside. And if he will go on making those gestures long enough, HE WILL BECOME THE THING HE SEEMS TO BE.

Hate to wake up in the morning? Dread to face a new day, Gwan—act game—AND YOU'LL BE GAME!

Once Overs

—By J. J. Mundy—

You raise much objection to certain noises in your home and state vigorously that they unnerve you.

Isn't it because you make no effort to control yourself?

Where you are employed annoying things occur, but you go ahead with your work just the same because you must, or lose your job.

If you used only a small part of the effort you exert at control during business hours, when you reach home, you would not be heard grumbling at home.

You are right in asking for quiet in your home when you want to rest, but if you think that the family should tip-toe around and be noiseless in every thing they do while you are at home you are demanding too much.

If you want to be welcome in your own home, don't ask the family to make too many changes in their regular routine.

To have to be on guard all the time is as irksome to your wife and children as it would be to you if it were required of you.

You don't want them to prefer your absence, do you?
